Comprehensive Health Benefit Plan Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to create a comprehensive national health insurance program, with benefits effective in mid-1973, was introduced today by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The program would cover all citizens, without individual limit, over the entire range of health services except for certain nursing home care, mental and dental treatment and some medicines and equipment.

Kennedy estimated it would pay 70 per cent of all health expenditures in the nation, roughly twice the amount now paid by the Medicare and Medicaid programs for the elderly and indigent, which would be terminated.

Joining Kennedy as principal sponsors of the plan were Sens.
Ralph Yarborough, D-Texas,
John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.,
and William B. Saxton, R-Ohio.

Kennedy, in prepared remarks for the Senate floor, said the program would be financed through a trust fund similar to that for social security.

Forty per cent of the income would be derived from federal general revenues, 35 per cent of it from a 3.5 per cent tax on employers' payrolls, and 25 per cent from a 2.1 per cent tax on individual income up to $15,000 a year.

Based on 1969 figures, said Kennedy, the plan would have paid out $37 billion.

Kennedy emphasized that his bill would not create a national health service of government-owned facilities and government-employed doctors.

"On the contrary," he said,
"the program proposes a working partnership between the public and private sectors."

It would replace, he said, "the large amount of wasteful and inefficient expenditures already being made by private citizens, by employers, by voluntary private agencies, and by federal, state and local governments."

"Only in this way can we begin to guarantee our citizens better value for their health dollar."

Kennedy said "with only four exceptions, there are no restrictions on needed services—no cut off points, no coinsurance, no deductibles, and no waiting periods."

Kennedy said the bill was pattered after the recommendations of the Committee for National Health Insurance, founded in 1968 by the late Walter Reuther.

Blaze At New History Center Damages Papers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Firemen were called to the new Ohio Historical Center on the state fairgrounds late Wednesday when fire broke out in some old newspaper files on the fourth floor of the structure.

Firemen quickly brought the small blaze under control. Four bunches of newspapers dating from 1950 were damaged, but other volumes on the same shelves as those which burned appeared undamaged.

Cause of the fire was not determined, but firemen said a carelessly discarded cigarette may have started the blaze. Several cigarette butts were on the floor nearby. The new $10 million museum was dedicated Sunday and opened to the public Monday.

Family Excursion To Cedar Point Ends In Tragedy

A family excursion to Cedar Point ended in death for a local mother and her two-year-old son and injuries to four other members of the family as a result of an automobile accident 11 miles north of Bucyrus Wednesday.

Dead on arrival at Bucyrus Community Hospital were Mrs.

107 Northridge Road, and Gregg
Allan Lindsey.

SHIRLEY LINDSEY

Listed in "guarded" condition today were Ernest Lindsey, 28, and sons Christopher, 5, and Skip, 6.

Lori Ann Lindsey, 8, was treated and released by the hospital staff.

ACCORDING to the Bucyrus Highway Patrol Post, Mrs.
Lindsey was driving the car.
She was passing a truck.

An approaching automobile forced her to swerve back into her lane of traffic. She lost control of the car, went off the road and struck a tree. The auto was demolished.

Mrs. Lindsey was born March 18, 1943, in Dayton, the daughter of the late Richard Dawson and Regina Swisselme Dawson, 229½ W. Mill St., who survives.

She was a member of St.
Joseph's Catholic Church. In addition to her mother, husband and three children, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs.
Joseph Katylak and Mrs.
William Ross, both of Dayton;
and Miss Sharon Dawson, 229½
W. Mill St.

Greg Allan Lindsey was born Sept. 27, 1967, in Circleville. He is also survived by paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.
Eugene Lindsey, 554 Greenacre Court.

Funeral services for Mrs.
Lindsey and her son will be held 10 a.m. Monday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church with Msgr.
George Buchmann officiating.
Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Hanoi Delegate Fails To Show For Peace Talk

Thuy's Boycott
May End Next Week, Aide Says

PARIS (AP) — North Viet-nam's chief delegate to the Paris peace talks, Xuan Thuy, failed to show up today for the 81st session of the talks, continuing an 8½-month boycott. But his deputy told newsmen he would be present next Thursday.

Thuy returned to Paris Wednesday after a 3½-month trip home. His deputy, Nguyen Minh Vy, said: "After a long trip, he is taking a little rest."

The American delegation was represented by Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, who missed last week's session, and the South Vietnamese by chief delegate Pham Dang Lam. The Viet Cong sent their delegation's third man, Nguyen Van Tien.

Thuy on his return to Paris indicated he brought no new peace proposals. But he said he would consider resuming secret talks with the Americans now that the United States is represented by a chief delegate instead of the previous acting delegation chief, Philip C. Habib.

Vy, the first speaker at today's session, said the American delegation spoke one way while ranking officials in the Nixon administration contradicted them.

The Viet Cong delegate repeated his side's "irreducible" demands: "the immediate and total withdrawal from South Vietnam of American troops... without posing any conditions whatsoever (and) the abandonment of the administration" in Saigon.

The South Vietnamese ambassador countered by charging that "your unchanged position boils down to two extreme demands. You consider these demands as preconditions which must be accepted by our side before genuine negotiations could begin."

Thailand Wants To Cut Viet Troop Strength

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand has told the Saigon government it wants to withdraw "as many as possible" of its 12,000 troops in South Vietnam, Premier Thanom Kittikachorn told newsmen today.

The premier said the situation in Thailand and neighboring Laos and Cambodia is becoming more tense, and Thailand wants its "battle-tested" troops to protect its frontiers.

Thanom said his government has not yet fixed a date or number of troops for the pullout. He said this would be discussed with Vietnamese officials.

Thanom, who also is defense minister, said he would ask the United States to increase aid to Thailand as more U.S. troops are pulled out of his country.
About 6,000 were withdrawn during the past year.

The Chicago Tribune reported shortly after the incident that it received a telephone call in which the caller said that if the Russian dance troupe did not leave, "the next one will not be a smoke bomb."

Several dozen members of the Community Council of Jewish Organizations had picketed outside the theater to call attention to the plight of Jews in the Soviet Union.

Abbot Rosen, Midwest director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, said he was "morally certain that anyone in the group sponsoring the picketing could not possibly be responsible for this act."

Opera House officials said the company's six remaining performances scheduled through Sunday would be held as planned.

The preliminary report on August prices said a sharp drop in food prices caused the index to decline five-tenths of one percent. It was the first time the Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported a decline in the index since August 1968.

Victim's Son Near Tears In Tate Murder Testimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A teen-age boy was near tears at the Sharon Tate murder trial as he told of finding the bloody body of his stepfather, Leno LaBianca, in a crouching position.

Frank Struthers, 16, the son by a former marriage of La-Bianca's wife Rosemary, who also was slain, took the stand Wednesday as the state turned to details of the double slaying the night after Miss Tate and four others were killed.

Descriptions of the Tate murder scene ended with a police chemist telling how trails of blood through the mansion and outside marked the paths taken by victims trying to flee their killers. He said the word "Pig" on the front door of the house was scrawled by someone using a towel dipped in the slain actress' blood.

Charles M. Manson, 35, and three women members of his hippie style "family" were on trial charged with murdering Miss Tate, four visitors at her home and the LaBiancas in August, 1969.

The LaBiancas, slain about 10 miles from the Tate place were found amid bloody scrawlings.
A carving fork was stuck in LaBianca's stomach and the word "War" was carved on his chest, police have said.

Struthers said his mother and stepfather had spent part of a weekend with him and family friends at Lake Isabella, a central California resort, then returned home ahead of the others
the night of Aug. 9.

The following night, when Struthers returned, he said he got no answer when he knocked on the door. He summoned his sister, Susan, 23, who lived nearby, and a friend, and they searched for keys.

"I got the keys out of my mother's car and opened the back door," said Struthers.

"When we got to the living we saw Leno LaBianca... in a type of crouched position." He added, "We came out right away."

Struthers said he checked the house days later to see if anything was missing. His mother's wallet was gone, he said. The state's star witness, Linda Kasaban, has testified that Manson entered the LaBianca home before the killings, then came out with the wallet which he told her to discard.

The wallet, later found in a gas station rest room, was identified by Struthers. The youth, whose eyes were red and puffy, appeared near tears as he viewed a color photograph in the wallet.

able calls and two indecisive ones. The governor's office has received 43 calls or telegrams supporting McCall's statement.

McCall announced some 4,500 guardsmen would be stationed in the Portland area during the convention. The guard last week completed special riot control training at Fort Lewis.

explosion Feb. 10 on an automated platform controlling 12 wells.

The explosion left some of the wells blowing wild in the worst offshore oil spill on record. The final well was capped seven weeks after the blast.

About 35,000 gallons of oil per day spewed into the Gulf. The spill did little damage to land although at one time a slick 15 miles long menaced oyster beds and game refuges along the Louisiana coast.

Hickel said the spill "never should have occurred."

Melvin R. Laird declared U.S. air power will be used in Cambodia as long as it results in reducing U.S. casualties in South Vietnam.

As the stop-the-war amendment underwent its third rewriting the Senate voted, in effect, to allow continued use of herbicides in Vietnam—despite any adverse effects on the environment—and to approve more spending for the C5 transport, already burned by a $2 billion cost overrun.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., announced the new version of the amendment he is sponsoring with Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., would lock the President into his announced goal of reducing troop levels in Vietnam to 280,000 men by April 30, 1971.

The amendment still calls for the orderly end of military operations in Indochina and "the safe and systematic withdrawal of remaining forces by Dec. 31, 1971."

But the new version would allow the President to suspend that deadline for up to 60 days, without the consent of Congress,
"upon a finding American troops were subjected to clear and present danger."

McGovern said if additional time were needed, the President could submit a revised timetable and other recommendations to Congress for approval within 10 days after his first action.

Meanwhile, Laird told newsmen: "If we can destroy enemy troops and supplies with the minimum casualty rate, I'm for it and I will authorize it."

He agreed with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the United States will do all it can to help the Lon Nol regime governing Cambodia.

The Hatfield-McGovern amendment would restrict the U.S. spending to expenses of withdrawal, to secure release of prisoners of war, to provide asylum for any Vietnamese endangered by U.S. withdrawal and to aid the Republic of Vietnam.

In Senate votes Wednesday, an amendment by Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., requiring an outside judgment on the necessity of a $200 million C5 production contingency fund was defeated, 48 to 30.

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty-two Americans were believed dead today in one of the worst helicopter crashes of the Vietnam war, but the U.S. Command announced that American battlefield casualties last week dropped to their lowest level in 4½ years.

The weekly casualty report said 52 Americans were killed in action last week and another 358 were wounded. A spokesman said it was the lowest casualty total since the week ending March 5, 1966, when 61 Americans were killed and 177 wounded.

Enemy and South Vietnamese casualties also were down. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,055 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last week, the lowest in more than three years, while the Saigon government reported 247 of its troops killed, the lowest in a month, and 745 wounded.

The American report did not include the casualties in the shooting down Wednesday of the 50-foot-long, 14-ton Chinook helicopter. Two bodies were recovered, seven men were injured, and 30 other Americans were listed as missing and presumed dead.

The big U.S. Army helicopter was hit by an enemy rocket grenade as it was coming in for a landing at Fire Base Judy, in the northern part of the country.
It was transporting troops being withdrawn from Kham Duc, a base 13 miles east of the Laotian border which allied forces abandoned Wednesday.

The chopper crashed just outside the artillery base, spraying wreckage in several directions.
A rotor blade hurtled into the base, killing two soldiers stationed there and wounding five others.

There were 32 Americans aboard the twin-rotor transport, and only the copilot and one passenger, an infantryman, were rescued. Both were injured. Late today no word has been received on recovery of missing bodies.

Mass March Highlight Of 'Lib' Movement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Women activists around the country, marking the 50th anniversary of their winning the vote, have begun a new drive for equality. They marched in the streets, chanted at rallies and held symbolic demonstrations.

High point of Wednesday's "Women's Strike for Equality" was a mass march down New York's Fifth Avenue that drew a police-estimated crowd of more than 20,000 persons, including some men, Parade officials put the figure as high as 50,000.

Other major demonstrations were held in Washington, Boston, Chicago, Indianapolis and San Francisco but there was also activity in cities the size of Missoula, Mont., and Paramus,
N.Y.

Betty Friedan, founder of the National Organization For Women—NOW—and originator of the idea for the strike, said the scope of the activity was "beyond our wildest dreams."

Major goals of the demonstration were equal job opportunities and pay, free abortions and 24-hour child care centers.

Women were urged to stay home from their jobs and not perform menial household tasks.

Comprehensive Health Benefit Plan Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to create a comprehensive national health insurance program, with benefits effective in mid-1973, was introduced today by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The program would cover all citizens, without individual limit, over the entire range of health services except for certain nursing home care, mental and dental treatment and some medicines and equipment.

Kennedy estimated it would pay 70 per cent of all health expenditures in the nation, roughly twice the amount now paid by the Medicare and Medicaid programs for the elderly and indigent, which would be terminated.

Joining Kennedy as principal sponsors of the plan were Sens. Ralph Yarborough, D-Texas, John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio.

Kennedy, in prepared remarks for the Senate floor, said the program would be financed through a trust fund similar to that for social security.

Forty per cent of the income would be derived from federal general revenues, 35 per cent of it from a 3.5 per cent tax on employers' payrolls, and 25 per cent from a 2.1 per cent tax on individual income up to $15,000 a year.

Based on 1969 figures, said Kennedy, the plan would have paid out $37 billion.

Kennedy emphasized that his bill would not create a national health service of government-owned facilities and government-employed doctors.

"On the contrary," he said, "the program proposes a working partnership between the public and private sectors."

It would replace, he said, "the large amount of wasteful and inefficient expenditures already being made by private citizens, by employers, by voluntary private agencies, and by federal, state and local governments."

"Only in this way can we begin to guarantee our citizens better value for their health dollar."

Kennedy said "with only four exceptions, there are no restrictions on needed services—no cut off points, no coinsurance, no deductibles, and no waiting periods."

Kennedy said the bill was patterned after the recommendations of the Committee for National Health Insurance, founded in 1968 by the late Walter Reuther.

Blaze At New History Center Damages Papers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Firemen were called to the new Ohio Historical Center on the state fairgrounds late Wednesday when fire broke out in some old newspaper files on the fourth floor of the structure.

Firemen quickly brought the small blaze under control. Four bound volumes of newspapers dating from 1950 were damaged, but other volumes on the same shelves as those which burned appeared undamaged.

Cause of the fire was not determined, but firemen said a carelessly discarded cigarette may have started the blaze. Several cigarette butts were on the floor nearby. The new $10 million museum was dedicated Sunday and opened to the public Monday.

Nixon Calls Key Advisers To Confab

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon called in key Cabinet members and budget officials today for a meeting of the Domestic Council and invited them all to stay for evening at the theater in Los Angeles.

Nixon is reviewing policies on the home front, including the fight against inflation and sharing of federal revenues with state and local governments.

George Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, among those attending today's meeting, said news Wednesday of a decline in the government's wholesale price index was a "fairly dramatic" sign that the administration's program to control inflation was taking hold.

The preliminary report on August prices said a sharp drop in food prices caused the index to decline five-tenths of one per cent. It was the first time the Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported a decline in the index since August 1968.

Hanoi Delegate Fails To Show For Peace Talk

Thuy's Boycott May End Next Week, Aide Says

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam's chief delegate to the Paris peace talks, Xuan Thuy, failed to show up today for the 81st session of the talks, continuing an 8½-month boycott. But his deputy told newsmen he would be present next Thursday.

Thuy returned to Paris Wednesday after a 3½-month trip home. His deputy, Nguyen Minh Vy, said: "After a long trip, he is taking a little rest."

The American delegation was represented by Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, who missed last week's session, and the South Vietnamese by chief delegate Pham Dang Lam. The Viet Cong sent their delegation's third man, Nguyen Van Tien.

Thuy on his return to Paris indicated he brought no new peace proposals. But he said he would consider resuming secret talks with the Americans now that the United States is represented by a chief delegate instead of the previous acting delegation chief, Philip C. Habib.

Vy, the first speaker at today's session, said the American delegation spoke one way while ranking officials in the Nixon administration contradicted them.

The Viet Cong delegate repeated his side's "irreducible" demands: "the immediate and total withdrawal from South Vietnam of American troops... without posing any conditions whatsoever (and) the abandonment of the administration" in Saigon.

The South Vietnamese ambassador countered by charging that "your unchanged position boils down to two extreme demands. You consider these demands as preconditions which must be accepted by our side before genuine negotiations could begin."

Thailand Wants To Cut Viet Troop Strength

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand has told the Saigon government it wants to withdraw "as many as possible" of its 12,000 troops in South Vietnam, Premier Thanom Kittakachorn told newsmen today.

The premier said the situation in Thailand and neighboring Laos and Cambodia is becoming more tense, and Thailand wants its "battle-tested" troops to protect its frontiers.

Thanom said his government has not yet fixed a date or number of troops for the pullout. He said this would be discussed with Vietnamese officials.

Thanom, who also is defense minister, said he would ask the United States to increase aid to Thailand as more U.S. troops are pulled out of his country. About 6,000 were withdrawn during the past year.

Hickel Sees Court's Decision As 'Landmark'

Oil Spill Costs Chevron $1 Million

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel says the $1 million fine imposed on the Chevron Oil Co. for a massive oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico is "a landmark for the public."

Commenting after the judgment in U.S. District Court here Wednesday, Hickel said in Washington: "It is my hope—and surely the hope of industry—that this will serve as an example that we must be responsive to the public."

Judge Alvin B. Rubin imposed the maximum fine of $2,000 each on 500 counts against Chevron after the firm changed its plea to no contest.

U.S. Atty. Gerald Gallinghouse and his assistant, Richard Olsen, agreed to dismissal of the last 400 counts against Chevron. The no contest plea meant the company was submitting to the charges but not admitting guilt.

The original 900 counts charged Chevron with failing to install storm chokes on 90 of its offshore oil wells in the Gulf for 10 days each. A storm choke is a safety and antipollution device required by the Interior Department. It is installed in the well pipe and shuts off the oil flow if the platform is damaged.

The indictment was returned May 5—five weeks after the capping of the last of a cluster of wells that ran wild after a fire.

Hickel said the spill "never should have occurred."

The spill followed a fire and

explosion Feb. 10 on an automated platform controlling 12 wells.

The explosion left some of the wells blowing wild in the worst offshore oil spill on record. The final well was capped seven weeks after the blast.

About 35,000 gallons of oil per day spewed into the Gulf. The spill did little damage to land although at one time a slick 15 miles long menaced oyster beds and game refuges along the Louisiana coast.

Senate Vietnam Critics Soften Withdrawal Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a last-minute effort to gain votes, Senate critics of White House Vietnam policy have offered President Nixon new flexibility under their "amendment to end the war."

Their inclusion of a 60-day period in which the President could suspend the total withdrawal of troops from Vietnam came as Secretary of Defense

Victim's Son Near Tears In Tate Murder Testimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A teen-age boy was near tears at the Sharon Tate murder trial as he told of finding the bloody body of his stepfather, Leno LaBianca, in a crouching position.

Frank Struthers, 16, the son by a former marriage of LaBianca's wife Rosemary, who also was slain, took the stand Wednesday as the state turned to details of the double slaying the night after Miss Tate and four others were killed.

Descriptions of the Tate murder scene ended with a police chemist telling how trails of blood through the mansion and outside marked the paths taken by victims trying to flee their killers. He said the word "Pig" on the front door of the house was scrawled by someone using a towel dipped in the slain actress' blood.

Charles M. Manson, 35, and three women members of his hippie style "family" are on trial charged with murdering Miss Tate, four visitors at her home and the LaBiancas in August, 1969.

The LaBiancas, slain about 10 miles from the Tate place were found amid bloody scrawlings. A carving fork was stuck in LaBianca's stomach and the word "War" was carved on his chest, police have said.

Struthers said his mother and stepfather had spent part of a weekend with him and family friends at Lake Isabella, a central California resort, then returned home ahead of the others the night of Aug. 9.

The following night, when Struthers returned, he said he got no answer when he knocked on the door. He summoned his sister, Susan, 23, who lived nearby, and a friend, and they searched for keys.

"I got the keys out of my mother's car and opened the back door," said Struthers.

"When we got to the living we saw Leno LaBianca... in a type of crouched position." He added, "We came out right away."

Struthers said he checked the house days later to see if anything was missing. His mother's wallet was gone, he said. The state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, has testified that Manson entered the LaBianca home before the killings, then came out with the wallet which he told her to discard.

The wallet, later found in a gas station rest room, was identified by Struthers. The youth, whose eyes were red and puffy, appeared near tears as he viewed a color photograph in the wallet.

The Hatfield-McGovern amendment would restrict the U.S. spending to expenses of withdrawal, to secure release of prisoners of war, to provide asylum for U.S. withdrawal and to aid the Republic of Vietnam.

In Senate votes Wednesday, an amendment by Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., requiring an outside judgment on the necessity of a $200 million C5 production contingency fund was defeated, 48 to 30.

McCall said in a statewide Radio and TV broadcast federal troops would be ready to back up the Oregon National Guard.

Three Portland television stations said they had received 86 favorable calls, three unfavorable calls and two indecisive ones. The governor's office has received 43 calls or telegrams supporting McCall's statement.

McCall announced some 4,500 guardsmen would be stationed in the Portland area during the convention. The guard last week completed special riot control training at Fort Lewis.

Melvin R. Laird declared U.S. air power will be used in Cambodia as long as it results in reducing U.S. casualties in South Vietnam.

As the stop-the-war amendment underwent its third rewriting the Senate voted, in effect, to allow continued use of herbicides in Vietnam—despite any adverse effects on the environment—and to approve more spending for the C5 transport, already burned by a $2 billion cost overrun.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., announced the new version of the amendment he is sponsoring with Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., would lock the President into his announced goal of reducing troop levels in Vietnam to 280,000 men by April 30, 1971.

The amendment still calls for the orderly end of military operations in Indochina and "the safe and systematic withdrawal of remaining forces by Dec. 31, 1971."

But the new version would allow the President to suspend that deadline for up to 60 days, without the consent of Congress, "upon a finding American troops were subjected to clear and present danger."

McGovern said if additional time were needed, the President could submit a revised timetable and other recommendations to Congress for approval within 10 days after his first action.

Meanwhile, Laird told newsmen: "If we can destroy enemy troops and supplies with the minimum casualty rate, I'm for it and I will authorize it."

He agreed with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the United States will do all it can to help the Lon Nol regime governing Cambodia.

Oregon Beefs Security For Legion Parley

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Gov. Tom McCall has drawn praise for his announcement that he would have enough force on hand to deal with any violence should antiwar demonstrators and American Legionnaires confront each other during the Legion convention which opens Friday.

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty-two Americans were believed dead today in one of the worst helicopter crashes of the Vietnam war, but the U.S. Command announced that American battlefield casualties last week dropped to their lowest level in 4½ years.

The weekly casualty report said 52 Americans were killed in action last week and another 358 were wounded. A spokesman said it was the lowest casualty total since the week ending March 5, 1966, when 61 Americans were killed and 177 wounded.

Enemy and South Vietnamese casualties also were down. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,055 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last week, the lowest in more than three years, while the Saigon government reported 247 of its troops killed, the lowest in a month, and 745 wounded.

The American report did not include the casualties in the shooting down Wednesday of the 50-foot-long, 14-ton Chinook helicopter. Two bodies were recovered, seven men were injured, and 30 other Americans were listed as missing and presumed dead.

The big U.S. Army helicopter was hit by an enemy rocket grenade as it was coming in for a landing at Fire Base Judy, in the northern part of the country. It was transporting troops being withdrawn from Kham Duc, a base 13 miles east of the Laotian border which allied forces abandoned Wednesday.

The chopper crashed just outside the artillery base, spraying wreckage in several directions. A rotor blade hurtled into the base, killing two soldiers stationed there and wounding five others.

There were 32 Americans aboard the twin-rotor transport, and only the copilot and one passenger, an infantryman, were rescued. Both were injured. Late today no word has been received on recovery of missing bodies.

Burial Ground Desegregated For Black Hero

MIAMI (AP) — A federal judge today ordered an all-white cemetery to bury a black soldier who was killed in Vietnam and refused interment because of his race.

Attorneys for the family of Spec. 4 Pondexter E. Williams said he would be buried Saturday at Hillcrest Memorial Gardens in Fort Pierce with full military honors.

U.S. Dist. Judge William O. Mehrtens heard arguments from attorneys from both sides in his chambers, with reporters excluded, then announced in the court the issuance of a temporary injunction blocking the cemetery from prohibiting Williams' burial any longer.

Lawyers explained the "temporary" part of the injunction was a technicality and the order to bury Williams is final.

Since his military funeral last Sunday in the National Guard Armory at Fort Pierce, 125 miles north of here, Williams' body has lain in a flag-draped coffin, awaiting the outcome of the court suit. Friends stood a vigil over the casket while the case progressed.

The suit was joined by family attorneys, the U.S. Justice Department, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the American Civil Liberties Union.

Agnew Arrives In Saigon, Draws Seoul Criticism

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in Vietnam today for his second visit of the year and declared that the success of the Cambodian venture has insured that U.S. troop withdrawals will proceed as planned.

"We will go forward with it," Agnew told newsmen accompanying him on the flight across the South China Sea from Formosa. The present program calls for U.S. forces in Vietnam to be reduced to 284,000 men by next April.

But the South Korean government today disagreed with much of what Agnew said publicly about his lengthy talks with President Chung Hee Park Monday and Tuesday.

Agnew told American newsmen traveling with him that he and Park had "reached a basic accord," and the vice president also said there would be no change in U.S. plans to withdraw 20,000 of the 62,000 American troops in Korea by next June 30. But Information Minister Shin Bum-shik told a news conference:

"We have never consented to the withdrawal of 20,000 U.S. troops from Korea. There is no change at all in our basic position that the modernization of our armed forces must precede any U.S. troop cut-back in Korea."

Agnew also reported that he told Park when the "long-range" modernization program was completed, perhaps in five years, perhaps later, the United States hoped American troops would no longer be necessary in Korea. He said Park "accepted" that and I think he accepts it as desirable.

The vice president spent most of the afternoon in conference with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, reviewing the progress of the war in South Vietnam and

★ ★ Agnew's Journey Politics — O'Brien

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has charged that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's current mission to Asia is a politically-motivated journey. "That trip of his, there's no rhyme or reason to it other than domestic American politics this fall," O'Brien said in an interview.

He said it is designed to enhance Agnew's standing as a Republican spokesman on foreign policy, in preparation for his campaign role.

The White House declined to comment.

neighboring Cambodia. They last met when Agnew was here at the beginning of the year.

Agnew was maintaining a fast pace on his current Asian visit, with 48 hours in South Korea, 24 in Nationalist China and now 24 or less in South Vietnam. He goes to Thailand Friday, and although he said again today he would not visit Cambodia, officials in Phnom Penh were making plans for him to stop there for lunch en route to Bangkok.

In his remarks to newsmen during the flight from Formosa, the vice president said the Vietnam policy advocated by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and an opponent of U.S. participation in the war, is "very, very wrong and dangerously wrong" and is being exploited by the Hanoi government.

The newsmen asked Agnew if he was referring to antiwar senators on Wednesday when he attacked "a few opportunists who may wish to see us bug out."

"I would not cite any members of the Senate as being opportunists," Agnew replied, then added:

"I think there is a great diversity of opinion as to what we should be doing in Southeast Asia, and I find myself in violent disagreement with people such as Sen. Fulbright.

"I don't impugn his motives and I don't think he is less patriotic for expressing his convictions, but I think he is very, very wrong and dangerously wrong and that since he is, he, in my opinion, is in a position where he must be disagreed with and on very firm terms."

"I find a great desire on the part of the North Vietnamese in their English-language newspapers to exploit statements by Sen. Fulbright, (George S.) McGovern, and people who are consistently talking against our involvement there and raising inferences of impropriety of the existing South Vietnam government."

In Municipal Court action Thursday morning, Darrell Okey Conner, 18, Harrison Ave., appeared before Judge Sterling M. Lamb on two counts of petit larceny.

Conner was found guilty of the theft of six gallons of gasoline from Reuben Jones, Route 4, and from John Pufinberger, Route 2.

In the Jones case, he was fined $300 plus court costs and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail. The fine and 60 days of the jail term were suspended and Conner was put on three years probation.

In the second case he was fined $50 plus costs and was handed a 90 day term in the Pickaway County jail. Lamb suspended 60 days of the term and put him on probation for three more years.

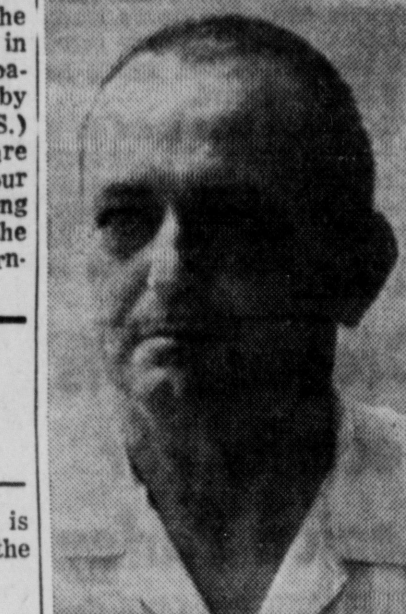

In other Municipal action, James W. Honea, Route 1, Ashville, was fined $50 plus costs and handed a 30 day suspended jail sentence for assault and battery on Ruth Honea. Lamb put the man on one year probation.

He was also found guilty of intoxication and fined $25 plus costs.

Earl T. Gulick, Route 2, forfeited $100 bond for disturbing the peace at Prairie Lanes.

of the war, 41 Americans were killed on Jan. 8, 1969, when a CH53 troop carrier crashed into a mountain. On May 7, 1969, two Americans and 38 South Vietnamese troops were killed when a CH47 hit a tree while taking off near Khe Sanh.

The Kham Duc base is a former Special Forces camp which was abandoned in 1968 under heavy enemy attack. About 2,000 South Vietnamese and 500 American troops reopened it six weeks ago to cut off North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving in from Laos. U.S. spokesmen said it was abandoned again because the force had accomplished its mission, having been "successful in effectively disrupting enemy logistical operations and in destroying enemy supply depots prior to the onset of the monsoon season."

The death toll last week marked the first time since the week ending Dec. 3, 1966 that American battlefield deaths have been below the 60 mark. In that week, 44 U.S. troops were killed.

The U.S. Command also reported that last week was the eighth consecutive week American combat deaths were under 100 and that the total of 560 killed during those weeks was the lowest eight-week toll in 4 1/2 years.

A spokesman said the low number of casualties "reflects the light, scattered action throughout the country with no major battles during the reporting period."

The official summary listed a total of 43,418 U.S. troops killed in action and 287,216 wounded in Indochina since Jan. 1, 1961.

The enemy casualties reported for last week raised to 667,231 the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops reported killed since Jan. 1, 1961.

The U.S. Command also reported a second helicopter, a UH1, was shot down Wednesday night in the southern Mekong Delta 12 miles southeast of Can Tho. Four American crewmen were killed.

This raised to 3,998 the number of American helicopters reported lost in Indochina since Jan. 1, 1961.

Tot Injured In Mower Accident

Three-year-old David Timothy Stevens underwent emergency surgery Wednesday evening in Children's Hospital, Columbus, following a riding mower accident at his home at Hargus Lake.

David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Stevens of Route 3, was riding on the mower with his father who had alighted to maneuver the mower over a sloped indentation on the ground. As a wheel of the mower slipped, the tot slid off the seat onto the ground. In falling, his left foot was caught under the mower and rotating blades.

The foot was amputated to the heel in surgery last night at the hospital where he was transferred from Berger Hospital immediately following the 1:30 p.m. accident.

David Timothy is now in Room 310.

500 Teenagers Arrested In Detroit Area

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — Police say more than 500 teenagers have been arrested in three nights of disturbances that led to the imposition of curfews in two Detroit suburbs.

The rock and bottle-throwing rampages began Monday night after police closed Memorial Park, a popular gathering place for youths in Royal Oak. Police said they had received reports of disturbances and open drug use and sales there.

James Soule, assistant police chief of Royal Oak, said at least 400 youths were arrested Wednesday night after a clash with police in Royal Oak and adjacent Birmingham.

NLRB Charges Lancaster Firm

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board filed an unfair labor practices complaint today against the C. E. Glass Division of Combustion Engineering Inc. of Lancaster.

The complaint was based on charges by the United Glass Ceramic Workers (AFL — CIO) that company officials were interfering with efforts to organize workers, particularly about 125 to be employed at a new plant.

Workers at the present plant are members of the International Leather Goods, Plastic and Novelty Workers Union. The complaint charged the company with threatening employees with discharge unless they continued their membership in the Novelty Workers Union. It also charged the company with "prematurely" granting recognition to the Novelty Workers Union for the 125 employees to be hired at the new plant.

A hearing will be held at Lancaster on Nov. 30.

Robbs In New Home

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Charles Robb and his wife, former President Lyndon B. Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird, have moved into a 10-room, $59,500 house so Robb can be nearer the University of Virginia where he will begin law school this fall. Real estate sources said the Robbs signed a contract to buy the home June 23.

Cheaply Made School Buses Hit As Hazard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economy practices in school bus construction may save $350 worth of nuts and bolts but cost the lives of children, says the National Transportation Safety Board.

The board said the use of too few fasteners causes school-bus bodies to disintegrate in crashes, contributing to injuries and deaths.

The report Wednesday was based on investigations of fatal accidents at Decatur, Ala., in 1968. Accidents at Waterloo, Neb., and Atlanta, Ga., also were mentioned in the findings.

It said that between two and five times as many rivets, bolts, screws and welds should be used to fasten pieces of school-bus bodies to one another and to the frame.

Such reinforcement of existing buses would cost about $350 each, it said.

The board, a unit of the Department of Transportation, urged manufacturers to "adopt a policy of using fastening methods which inhibit the raising of sharp edges" as well as tightening joints.

The findings were limited to school buses which have the body attached to a truck chassis, a type which makes up about 90 per cent of the 30,000 school buses manufactured annually by ten firms.

The board also aimed its comments at the National Education Association, whose bus specifications have been adopted by many school boards and influenced the manufacturers.

Stock Prices Take Rebound

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices rebounded slightly from early losses today after the announcement that the government's index of "leading indicators" for July had risen.

Trading remained moderate, but the New York Stock Exchange tape ran one minute late. At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial gained 1.58 points to 762.05. Earlier, it had been down more than 3 points.

Advances on the Big Board overtook declines for the first time in today's trading session to hold a small lead.

Gains ran through drugs, rails and utilities while losses ran through tobacco, and chemicals. Other industry groups were mixed.

Glamors were generally higher.

Three Injured In Auto Crash

Circleville Police investigated an accident at the junction of Ohio St. and Renick Ave. at 10:46 p.m. Wednesday which resulted in injury to three persons and heavy damage to two autos.

Treated at Berger Hospital was Christine Stevens, 6, Route 4, for multiple facial lacerations and Francis Haine, 61, Eaton Rapids, Mich., for possible whiplash. Also injured in the crash was Evelyn Stevens, Route 4. She was referred to her doctor.

Local police officials are still investigating the circumstances of the crash.

In another incident, Circleville Police received a call from Robert Jones, 825 S. Scioto St., that a dog was acting strange and tried to bite him and some of his children.

Patrolmen Jerry Smallwood and Bill Pontious investigated the report and were attacked by the dog which was foaming at the mouth. The officers shot and killed the dog.

Prelate Knows Where To Get Help On Putts

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Terence Cardinal Cooke of New York got a laugh when he told President Nixon about his new golf clubs inscribed with the motto in Latin: "Lord, have mercy on me."

The President responded that comedian Bob Hope suggested that the same motto should be on his clubs.

The Roman Catholic cardinal was visiting the Western White House Wednesday to report on his recent tour of U.S. military bases in Europe. A third golfer, orchestra leader Lawrence Welk, also was there to discuss the problems of youths and drugs.

Agnew Arrives In Saigon, Draws Seoul Criticism

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in Vietnam today for his second visit of the year and declared that the success of the Cambodian venture has insured that U.S. troop withdrawals will proceed as planned.

"We will go forward with it," Agnew told newsmen accompanying him on the flight across the South China Sea from Formosa. The present program calls for U.S. forces in Vietnam to be reduced to 284,000 men by next April.

But the South Korean government today disagreed with much of what Agnew said publicly about his lengthy talks with President Chung Hee Park Monday and Tuesday.

Agnew told American newsmen traveling with him that he and Park had "reached a basic accord," and the vice president also said there would be no change in U.S. plans to withdraw 20,000 of the 62,000 American troops in Korea by next June 30. But Information Minister Shin Bum-shik told a news conference:

"We have never consented to the withdrawal of 20,000 U.S. troops from Korea. There is no change at all in our basic position that the modernization of our armed forces must precede any U.S. troop cut-back in Korea."

Agnew also reported that he told Park when the "long-range" modernization program was completed, perhaps in five years, perhaps later, the United States hoped American troops would no longer be necessary in Korea. He said Park "accepted that and I think he accepts it as desirable."

The vice president spent most of the afternoon in conference with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, reviewing the progress of the war in South Vietnam and

★ ★ Agnew's Journey Politics — O'Brien

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has charged that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's current mission to Asia is a politically-motivated journey. "That trip of his, there's no rhyme or reason to it other than domestic American politics this fall," O'Brien said in an interview.

He said it is designed to enhance Agnew's standing as a Republican spokesman on foreign policy, in preparation for his campaign role.

The White House declined to comment.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices rebounded slightly from early losses today after the announcement that the government's index of "leading indicators" for July had risen.

Trading remained moderate, but the New York Stock Exchange tape ran one minute late. At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gained 1.58 points to 762.05. Earlier, it had been down more than 3 points.

Advances on the Big Board overtook declines for the first time in today's trading session to hold a small lead.

Gains ran through drugs, rails and utilities while losses ran through tobacco, and chemicals. Other industry groups were mixed.

The Associated Press index of 60 stocks was unchanged at 248.7 with industrials off 1.1, rails up .5 and utilities up .3.

Cheaply Made School Buses Hit As Hazard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economy practices in school bus construction may save $350 worth of nuts and bolts but cost the lives of children, says the National Transportation Safety Board.

The board said the use of too few fasteners causes school-bus bodies to disintegrate in crashes, contributing to injuries and deaths.

The report Wednesday was based on investigations of fatal accidents at Decatur, Ala., in 1968. Accidents at Waterloo, Neb., and Atlanta, Ga., also were mentioned in the findings.

It said that between two and five times as many rivets, bolts, screws and welds should be used to fasten pieces of school-bus bodies to one another and to the frame.

Such reinforcement of existing buses would cost about $350 each, it said.

The board, a unit of the Department of Transportation, urged manufacturers to "adopt a policy of using fastening methods which inhibit the raising of sharp edges" as well as tightening joints.

The findings were limited to school buses which have the body attached to a truck chassis, a type which makes up about 90 per cent of the 30,000 school buses manufactured annually by ten firms.

Lawsuits Loom In Cincinnati 'Decency Raids'

CINCINNATI (AP) — City Manager Richard Krabach and some other Cincinnati officials face million dollar lawsuits as the result of raids on newsstores here.

Attorneys for Seventh Street News Inc. filed a $1,012,000 suit Wednesday in U. S. District Court against Krabach; three other city officials; and Charles Keating Jr., founder of Citizens for Decent Literature.

The suit charges censorship by intimidation as does a $1,250,000 suit brought recently against Krabach, other officials and Keating by counsel for Trans Media News.

The Seventh Street store was raided on Aug. 12 and Aug. 24 and a clerk was arrested each time on a charge of sale of obscene literature.

Judge David Porter, who had temporarily ordered the city not to raid Trans Media outlets, extended the injunction to the Seventh Street store.

Broiled Corn Tassels

In trying to correct world food deficiencies experts recognize the key to the problem is efficient distribution of protein. Protein is not the only important food substance, but it is the body's most important tissue builder.

Without plentiful quantities of protein, the continents of Asia, Africa and South America cannot hope to solve their hunger and malnutrition problems.

Cattle cannot begin to meet the protein need in countries so overcrowded there is barely enough living room for people, let alone animals. Thus, the search is on to find cheap substitutes for meat. As revealed at the Third International Congress on Food Science and Technology, much progress in research already has been made. Corn tassels, sugar corn waste, coconuts, cotton seeds, peanut shells, fungi and bacteria, all types of fish, seaweed, algae and even weeds are under testing as protein fodder in various parts of the world.

Progress has reached the point where fewer experts now talk of famine. They are hopeful the problem of food in an overpopulated world can be solved through a combination of ingenuity and artificial substances. The emphasis now is on insuring the new food substances are not toxic or otherwise harmful.

After these tests are passed, an avalanche of unusual and inexpensive foods could begin showing up in world markets, possibly beginning in this decade.

Moms Also Serve

Every war produces outstanding citizens. The Vietnam war is no exception. There are the battlefield heroes in Vietnam, and too much cannot be said for them.

But this war also has produced the latest cadre of a special type of home front soldier whom many GIs have reason to remember long after they have left their distant stations. They are the "Moms" who write letters and send packages to men they never met and perhaps never will.

Those letters and gifts mean as much to the men as they would if they came from a loved one at home. For many of the recipients it is the only mail they receive, which is why many of the letter writers wrote to them.

A Detroit woman, who lost a son

in Vietnam and now corresponds regularly with each of the 200 men in his company, has a letter among hundreds which sums up the reaction from her boys.

Another lady in Coventry, R. I., whose son lost both his legs in Vietnam, and who herself is in a convalescent home, not only is writing regularly to 50 servicemen, but, has enlisted 33 other letter writers across the U.S. to her cause. These ladies and others like them will receive no medals, but their deeds will be long remembered with fond memories by those on the receiving end.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. economy is now felt to be in something of a rolling readjustment, which is to say that the ebb tide of recession appears to be spent and that the return tide is spilling back into a few crannies. Not everyone will agree that this is so, but some documentation of the Nixon administration's recent optimism seems to be appearing. The evidence is spotty and maybe inconclusive, but who knows exactly when the tide turns?

Dr. Paul McCracken, the President's chief economist, points to small increases during July in industrial production, personal income, retail sales and housing starts as encouraging signs.

But there are still some discouraging signs. Unemployment, now at a 5 per cent rate, could very well rise before the summer is over. And those polls of consumer sentiment still show much resistance toward spending.

In fact, recent surveys by Sindlinger Co. of managers, officers and professionals—the people who presumably must believe in an upturn before they can help bring it about—shows them lacking in confidence about the immediate future of the economy.

Moreover, the signs that are being interpreted as indicating a "cautiously expansionist course," in the words of McCracken, are not that strong. They are still vulnerable to major strikes, for example.

At any rate, the rolling readjustment isn't likely to turn into a flood tide. The upturn that is forecast to begin any month now, if it hasn't already, is likely to be marked by steadiness rather than vigor.

Not so many months ago forecasters of the economic scene looked for a surging economy during the 1970s, and a popular pastime was to seek the most appropriate name for the decade. The 1960s has been christened the "soaring sixties." The 1970s then, were to be the "sizzling seventies."

You don't hear much of that anymore. More soberly, forecasters now realize that some of the soaring sixties was an ascent from reality. The 1970s have now been rechristened "the solid 70s."

Even that term could be optimistic, because it applies mainly to economic as distinct from social issues.

American teams before the college season starts is like putting the last chapter of a mystery novel at the front of the book.

Modesty Panel Sales Increase

CHICAGO (AP) — A modesty panel is a rectangular shield placed in front of a secretary's desk to insure her privacy in this era of ascending hemlines of miniskirts.

Jerry Silver, president of an art metal firm, said the sales of modesty panels has increased 37 per cent and is keeping pace with the rise in skirts.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AFTER a local election in a town near Shamrock, Ireland, McManus was asked how he had managed to eke out a victory. "Twas like this," McManus readily explained. "I am aware that everybody who knew me voted for Sullivan, but on the other hand, everybody who knew Sullivan voted for me—and it turned out he knew nine more people than I did."

An author under intensive psychiatric care, who hadn't so much as touched a typewriter in five years, suddenly expressed a desire to resume writing. "A very good sign," approved his psychiatrist, and provided a machine, a sheaf of paper, and a private office in which his patient could get down to work. For several weeks, the author concentrated on the job, then, obviously delighted with himself, handed in a 600-page manuscript.

The psychiatrist's hopes were dashed to the ground when he discovered that after the opening sentence, "General Beasley jumped aboard his favorite horse and cried 'Giddyup! Giddyup!'" there followed nothing but thousands of "Giddyups" and nothing else for all 600 pages. "My dear fellow," groaned the psychiatrist, "all we have here is 600 pages of giddyaps."

"Right you are, Doc," agreed the patient happily. "That there's the stubbornest horse in contemporary fiction!"

According to Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — A man is usually as mentally healthy as he thinks himself to be.

But the world is so mixed up today that if a fellow feels good he wonders what is wrong with him.

Is he on the beam or off his rocker? Maybe his best friend won't tell him and even his hairdresser doesn't know for sure.

Whom can he turn to for help? Here is a handy little do-it-yourself test that should show you what state your mind is in. Simply ask yourself the following questions:

Do you have five friends whose loyalty to you is unquestionable, who would defend you under any circumstances, and who would be truly glad if you unexpectedly made a million dollars?

Every now and then when you look into the mirror don't you get a wild hope that your hair is coming in a little thicker on top?

Does your wife understand you—perhaps only too well? Is it not true that you sometimes suspect your doctor keeps his best medicines for himself and some of his pet patients?

Even though you know nutty people often have the delusion they are being followed, haven't you more than once had an uneasy conviction that you were being followed yourself?

If you just had more time, you'd learn a foreign language or do something else to improve your cultural level, wouldn't you?

Suppose you were in a wagon train under attack, and someone had to try to ride through the encircling Indians to get help from the U.S. cavalry. You'd volunteer for that mission—right?

Can you write down from memory your Social Security number, your car license number, your blood type, the number of people you have borrowed $5 or more from in the last year, and the manner in which the 50 stars in the American flag are arranged?

When the boss tells a funny story to the gang around the office water cooler, you laugh along with the others even though you don't catch the punchline, do you not?

Those are the questions. Now to the score.

If you answered either yes or no to all the questions, you are a mentally unbalanced hypocrite—a menace to yourself and to others.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Aug. 27, the 239th day of 1970. There are 126 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, American troops began landing in Japan at the end of World War II.

On this date: In the year 55 B.C., forces under Julius Caesar invaded Britain.

In 1776, the British were victorious in the Revolutionary War battle of Long Island.

In 1859, the first oil well in the United States was drilled near Titusville, Pa.

In 1939, Nazi Germany demanded Danzig and the Polish Corridor.

In 1949, a hostile mob broke up a concert by the black singer, Paul Robeson, near Peekskill, N.Y.

Ten years ago — the United States complained to Kuwait that a boycott against Israel resulted in unwarranted interference in the business of firms operating in Kuwait.

Five years ago — Natchez, Miss., civil rights leader George Metcalfe was seriously injured by a bomb that went off in his car when he turned on the ignition.

One year ago—about half the staff of lawyers in the Justice Department's civil rights division agreed to protest the Nixon administration's desegregation policies after a delay in integrating Mississippi public schools.

2 Sign Conflict

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Two signs comprising what could be described as a census taker's nightmare stand less than a block apart here on US 45.

One gives Paducah's population as 34,000 and the other says 54,000.

Senator George Murphy

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Republican Senator George Murphy is supposed to be in trouble in California with his Democratic opponent U.S. Representative John Tunney. The latter has been improving in the polls, even taking a five-point lead in one of them. But don't underestimate George's resourcefulness. You could say he has the luck of the Irish, only in this case it would be a meaningless way of putting it, for Gene Tunney's son John is Irish — or part Irish — too. However, I've watched George Murphy ever since we were college classmates together, and I've never seen him land anywhere except on his nimble dancer's feet.

He beat Pierre Salinger, the Kennedy man from the East Coast, in the 1964 California go-around for the U.S. Senate, by a soft sell that invited the voters to ask "unlucky Pierre" who had sent him West. He can't do that with Tunney, who is a legitimate Californian with three Congressional terms from Riverside behind him. However, some of the people working for Tunney have been making what could prove to be a cardinal mistake. They have been bringing up the name of Patrick Frawley, a generous champion of conservative causes, the intention being to smear Senator Murphy as an unmitigated right-winger simply because Frawley has supported him. Murphy has been on the payroll of Technicolor, a Frawley company, for quite legitimate reasons, as an adviser on the motion picture industry which he has known so well both as an actor and as a labor leader in the Screen Actors Guild. But the motive in raising the Frawley issue is not so much to show "conflict of interest" as it is to connect Murphy with a "super-patriot."

This strategy is "pre-Agnew," and therefore quite stupid. If anything is plain, Vice President Spiro Agnew has energized a vast army of hitherto silent people who used to feel uncomfortably conspicuous if they put flag decals on their car windows but who now think they constitute an increasingly popular "in-group" of their own. The more that John Tunney's boys enable George Murphy to wave the flag, the better it will be for George. Incidentally, Gene Tunney, the old heavyweight champion who is in his son's corner for quite understandable reasons, has always been a good flag-waver himself. Gene Tunney has talked in season and out about the necessity of fighting Communist expansion, and in our last conversation in New York he expressed special enjoyment of conservative columnists, beginning with Bill Buckley. (I'm not asking for a Gene Tunney right to the jaw; I know he's a gentleman.)

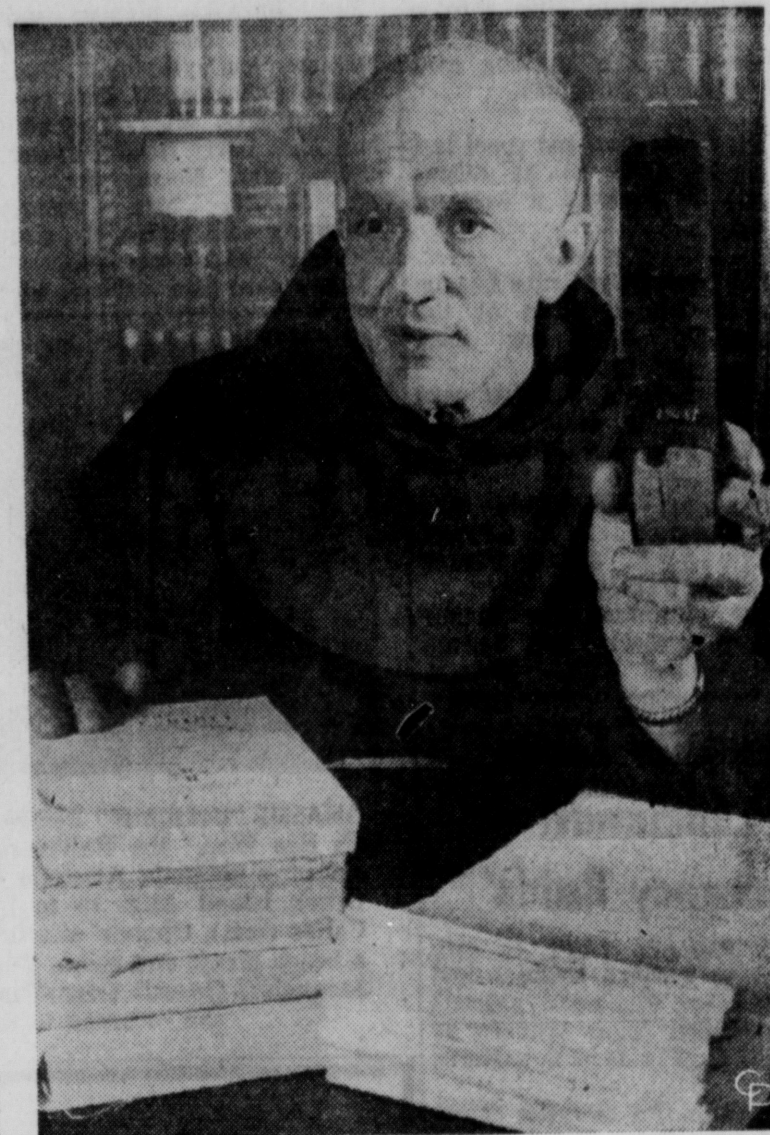

It wasn't so long ago that John Tunney was rapping President Richard Nixon's plea for support of his policy of "Vietnamization." Speaking to a Stanford University audience last November, he posed a rhetorical question that now rings at least a bit hollow. "How," he asked, "is Vietnamization of the war going to help when they can't do what both the U.S. and the South Vietnamese haven't been able to do — win a military victory?"

Since then the South Vietnamese have been "blooded" as fighters in a very real offensive in Cambodia. "Vietnamization" is not certain of success, but neither is there any certainty at this point that it will prove to be a failure. You may be sure that Senator Murphy will make the most of John Tunney's old conviction that all has been lost in Southeast Asia.

There is also Tunney's argument that we have had what he calls a "bloated" foreign policy. Sure, we have. But who "bloated" it? It was a Democratic Administration that sent more than 500,000 Americans to Vietnam and kept them fighting for five years without permitting our generals to undertake flanking attacks across the Laotian, the Cambodian and the North Vietnamese borders. As everyone ought to know, a war in which you don't allow yourself flanking operations is the most expensive — or "bloated" — can do.

type of war, for, like the trench war of 1914-18 in France, it becomes endless. At West Point they used to teach that to stand on fixed lines was the supreme military idiosyncrasy. It means that you are coming close to imposing siege conditions on yourself. Luckily we commanded the sea and the air in Southeast Asia, but the machines needed to dominate sea and air for five years run into real financial "bloat."

Even though he has had a throat operation (a success), Senator Murphy will succeed in throwing the "bloat" argument back in his opponent's face. If you want to know how beguiling and resourceful Murphy is, read the autobiography, "Say . . . Didn't You Used to be George Murphy?", written with the aid of Victor Lasky. Murphy has turned the bellicose Lasky into the anti-Kennedy books into a sweet yea-sayer, and this in itself is an index of what our senior Senator from California can do.

NEW BIBLE—The Rev. Steven Hartdegen holds up a copy of the Bible that English-speaking Catholics have been using for 220 years, while before him in Washington lies the manuscript of a new one to be published Sept. 30. The old Bible is a translation of a translation based on 1,565-year-old Latin Vulgate. The new, on which 51 scholars labored for 25 years, is a direct translation from original Biblical languages, Hebrew, Greek and Aramaic. Aramaic was the language of Jesus.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Mr. G.T.B., Oregon
Dear Mr. B.: One of the characteristic signs of Parkinson's disease, or paralysis agitans, is a lack of facial expression and apparent absence of emotional reaction. This gives the false impression that mental deterioration is part of this central nervous system disease. Actually, there is no relationship between the intellectual capacity of the person and this condition.

Some of the results with active treatment using L-dopa are utterly astonishing in keeping this catastrophic disorder from progressing. It is hoped that before long the prevention may be as exciting as the methods used to control the disease.

Are there any foods that really enhance the intellect and the development of the brain? When I was a child, we were told that fish is a brain food.

Mrs. W.F., Connecticut
Dear Mrs. F.: It is a scientific truth that there is no food which stimulates the brain to intellectual development. The mistaken notion that fish, sweet breads, and brain itself can further brain development has no validity.

The brain is an organ that grows and flourishes on good nutrition as does every other organ in the body. A highly nutritional diet that supplies the basic protein, carbohydrate, fat, materials, and vitamins for sustained health and growth will, of course, reflect on the brain, too.

If an examination of the urine shows it to be acid, does it indicate disease of the kidneys?

Mr. J.J.D., Arkansas
Dear Mr. D.: The fact that the urine is acid during a routine test has no special meaning. Often, the urine varies from being acid to alkaline in the same day. That which is more important than acidity is the presence or absence of red and white blood cells, albumin, pus and casts.

Dozing at the wheel happens as often during the day as at night. Stop for a safety cat nap.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Broiled Corn Tassels

In trying to correct world food deficiencies experts recognize the key to the problem is efficient distribution of protein. Protein is not the only important food substance, but it is the body's most important tissue builder.

Without plentiful quantities of protein, the continents of Asia, Africa and South America cannot hope to solve their hunger and malnutrition problems.

Cattle cannot begin to meet the protein need in countries so overcrowded there is barely enough living room for people, let alone animals. Thus, the search is on to find cheap substitutes for meat. As revealed at the Third International Congress on Food Science and Technology, much progress in research already has been made.

Corn tassels, sugar corn waste, coconuts, cotton seeds, peanut shells, fungi and bacteria, all types of fish, seaweed, algae and even weeds are under testing as protein fodder in various parts of the world.

Progress has reached the point where fewer experts now talk of famine. They are hopeful the problem of food in an overpopulated world can be solved through a combination of ingenuity and artificial substances. The emphasis now is on insuring the new food substances are not toxic or otherwise harmful.

After these tests are passed, an avalanche of unusual and inexpensive foods could begin showing up in world markets, possibly beginning in this decade.

Moms Also Serve

Every war produces outstanding citizens. The Vietnam war is no exception. There are the battlefield heroes in Vietnam, and too much cannot be said for them.

But this war also has produced the latest cadre of a special type of home front soldier whom many GIs have reason to remember long after they have left their distant stations. They are the "Moms" who write letters and send packages to men they never met and perhaps never will.

Those letters and gifts mean as much to the men as they would if they came from a loved one at home. For many of the recipients it is the only mail they receive, which is why many of the letter writers wrote to them.

A Detroit woman, who lost a son

in Vietnam and now corresponds regularly with each of the 200 men in his company, has a letter among hundreds which sums up the reaction from her boys.

Another lady in Coventry, R. I., whose son lost both his legs in Vietnam, and who herself is in a convalescent home, not only is writing regularly to 50 servicemen, but, has enlisted 33 other letter writers across the U.S. to her cause. These ladies and others like them will receive no medals, but their deeds will be long remembered with fond memories by those on the receiving end.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. economy is now felt to be in something of a rolling readjustment, which is to say that the ebb tide of recession appears to be spent and that the return tide is spilling back into a few cran-ries. Not everyone will agree that this is so, but some documentation of the Nixon administration's recent optimism seems to be appearing. The evidence is spotty and maybe inconclusive,

but who knows exactly when the tide turns?

Dr. Paul McCracken, the President's chief economist, points to small increases during July in industrial production, personal income, retail sales and housing starts as encouraging signs.

But there are still some discouraging signs. Unemployment, now at a 5 per cent rate, could very well rise before the summer is over. And those polls of consumer sentiment still show much resistance toward spending.

In fact, recent surveys by Sindinger, Co. of managers, officers and professionals—the people who presumably must believe in an upturn before they can help bring it about—shows them lacking in confidence about the immediate future of the economy.

Moreover, the signs that are being interpreted as indicating a "cautiously expansionist course," in the words of McCracken, are not that strong. They are still vulnerable to major strikes, for example.

At any rate, the rolling readjustment isn't likely to turn into a flood tide. The upturn that is forecast to begin any month now, if it hasn't already, is likely to be marked by steadiness rather than vigor.

Not so many months ago forecasters of the economic scene looked for a surging economy during the 1970s, and a popular pastime was to seek the most appropriate name for the decade. The 1960s has been christened the "soaring sixties." The 1970s then, were to be the "sizzling seventies."

You don't hear much of that anymore. More soberly, forecasters now realize that some of the soaring sixties was an ascent from reality. The 1970s have now been rechristened "the solid 70s."

Even that term could be optimistic, because it applies mainly to economic as distinct from social issues.

Dear Mr. D.: The fact that the urine is acid during a routine test has no special meaning. Often, the urine varies from being acid to alkaline in the same day. That which is more important than acidity is the presence or absence of red and white blood cells, albumin, pus and casts.

Do patients with Parkinson's Disease have mental deterioration as the condition progresses?

Mr. G.T.B., Oregon

Dear Mr. B.: One of the characteristic signs of Parkinson's disease, or paralysis agitans, is a lack of facial expression and apparent absence of emotional reaction. This gives the false impression that mental deterioration is part of the disease. Actually, there is no relationship between the intellectual capacity of the person and this condition.

Some of the results with active treatment using L-dopa are utterly astonishing in keeping this catastrophic disorder from progressing. It is hoped that before long the prevention may be as exciting as the methods used to control the disease.

Are there any foods that really enhance the intellect and the development of the brain? When I was a child, we were told that fish is a brain food.

Mrs. W.F., Connecticut

Dear Mrs. F.: It is a scientific truth that there is no food which stimulates the brain to intellectual development. The mistaken notion that fish, sweetbreads, and brain itself can further brain development has no validity.

The brain is an organ that grows and flourishes on good nutrition as does every other organ in the body. A highly nutritional diet that supplies the basic protein, carbohydrate, fat, materials, and vitamins for sustained health and growth will, of course, reflect on the brain, too.

If an examination of the urine shows it to be acid, does it indicate disease of the kidneys? Mr. J.J.D., Arkansas

Enemy Supplies Cut Sharply By U.S. Air Strikes

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military sources say enemy forces in Cambodia are getting only a dribble of supplies from North Vietnam because of intense American air attacks on river infiltration routes.

These sources believe North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia have had to draw on arms and supply caches that escaped discovery when U.S. and South Vietnamese units swept enemy base sanctuaries near the South Vietnamese border in May and June.

Nixon administration officials have estimated the allied drive into the Cambodian border base areas uncovered about 60 per cent of the materiel stockpiled there.

There also is evidence that the enemy may be bringing some supplies back into Cambodia from South Vietnam, where military action has been at low ebb, American sources say. U.S. reconnaissance planes recently spotted more than 120 loaded bicycles moving west from the border region north of Saigon.

New Gadget For Drinking Drivers

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — A Rutgers University scientist says he has developed a simple calculator that will tell a driver how much alcohol he can drink and still drive safely.

Dr. Leon Greenberg, executive director of laboratory research at the Rutgers Center of Alcohol Studies, says it's naive to assume that most people will follow the precaution, "if you drink, don't drive."

"A more realistic approach," he said, "is to educate people by providing guidelines about what is appropriate and inappropriate drinking if a person is going to drive."

He therefore fashioned what he calls the "Alco Calculator" to help a driver know his alcohol limit and decide when he is safe to drive.

It's a simple slide rule that carries data about body weight, number of drinks and drinking time.

Here's how he said it works:

A couple goes to a cocktail party and stays four hours. The man who weighs 190 pounds, drinks four martinis. The woman, whose weight is 120, drinks three.

Which one should drive home? Answer: He should.

The fellow's blood contains .04 per cent alcohol, the girl's .06 per cent. The legal minimum for being "under the influence" is .05 per cent. If, having taken the same number of drinks, they had decided to leave after only three hours, the fellow's blood would have contained more than the legal minimum of .05 per cent.

Greenberg said the gadget is particularly useful for people who drink in moderation. They make up 95 per cent of the 90 million drinking Americans, he said.

As to heavy drinkers, Greenberg said, "the problem with them is not drinking and driving, their problem is drinking."

Youth Fatally Wounds Cousin

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — A teen-aged boy from Akron, Ohio, accidentally shot and fatally wounded his 12-year-old cousin Wednesday at the family's vacation campsite outside this southwestern New York city, authorities said.

Kevin H. Sipps of Cincinnati, Ohio, died about two hours after the shooting while in surgery at Salamanca District Hospital.

Sheriff Charles B. Hill of Cattaugus County said Sipps' cousin, Christin Johnson, slipped off a log and the .22-caliber rifle he was holding discharged.

New Computer Warn Heart-Care Patients

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — Three scientists have created a computer about the size of a deck of cards that they say may save thousands of lives by warning heart-care patients of possible trouble.

The device, called VIDA—Ventricular Impulse Detector and Alarm—gives off a loud beep when a patient's heart produces "ectopic" beats, a sure sign of usually fatal heart fibrillation that causes the heart to stop pumping.

Once the alarm sounds, patients have about three days to seek medical attention, the inventors say.

Creators of the shirt-pocket computer are Dr. John W. Gofman of San Francisco, and two California electronics specialists, Robert L. Chapman of Danville and Richard D. Lawhorn of Castro Valley, who have set up offices in this San Francisco-Oakland suburb.

"It's really tragic to realize that many people die from temporary heart fibrillations," Chapman said in an interview.

He said the device is attached by two electrodes to the chest. A special circuit protector prevents possible false alarms.

Officer Cleared In Shooting Case

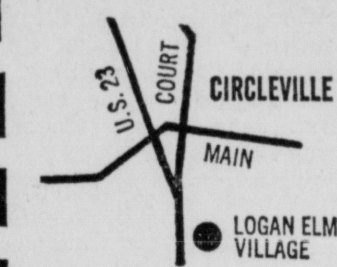

CINCINNATI (AP) — The fatal shooting of a young burglar suspect here Aug. 16 by Cincinnati Patrolman Jack Sommer has been ruled "legal action by police."

Hamilton County Coroner Frank Cleveland issued the ruling Wednesday in the death of Richard Smith, 18, a Negro from Cincinnati.

Sommer said that he yelled several times for the victim to stop after he was spotted at the Day and Zimmerman Construction Co. where a burglar alarm had sounded. Sommer said he did not and fired one shot which struck the youth in the back.

Miss Jane Gwyn Wright Is Bride Of Mr. Charles Asa Bradbury II

MRS. CHARLES ASA BRADBURY II

Attired in a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace, Miss Jane Gwyn Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson E. Wright, Route 1, became the bride of Charles Asa Bradbury, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Asa Bradbury of Middleport.

Vows of the double ring ceremony were officiated by the Rev. Foster Jenne at 2:30 p.m., July 25, at Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church. Mrs. Norman Wilson was soloist and Mr. Donald Metzler, organist for the nuptial music.

Sprays of lily of the valley and greenery were fastened to each pew on the aisle leading to the altar decorated with baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked by candelabra.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown was fashioned with a natural bodice accented with beading at the waist, a high scalloped cameo neckline and long fan shaped sleeves. The A-line skirt was scalloped at the hemline and extended into a chapel train. Her full length veil of silk illusion was caught to a lace pillbox hat encrusted with pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses encircled with lily of the valley.

The bride's attendants were Miss Cindy Valentine, Circleville, as maid of honor; Miss Jeanne Wright, Miss Connie Wright, Miss Teresa Wright, Circleville; Miss Mary Bradbury, Middleport, and Miss

The attendants wore identical styled floor length gowns of pink leno lace with bateau neckline and long puffed sleeves, ruffled at the wrist. Circle veils of pink silk illusion were held by small pillbox hats. They carried colonial bouquets of pink sweetheart roses encircled with lily of the valley.

Flower girl was Miss Beth Ann Reichelderfer, a cousin of the bride. She wore a dress similar to the bridesmaids with a large pink bow in her hair and carried a basket of pink rose petals. Master Steven Congrove, a cousin of the bride, wore a white suit for his role as ring bearer.

Mr. Jim Butcher, Middleport, performed the duties of best man for the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Frederick W. Hancock, Long Island, N. Y.; Mr. James Dailey, Erie, Pa.; Mr. Don Senior, Morristown, N. J.; Mr. George Sauer, Middleport, all fraternity brothers of the groom. Mr. Terry Wright was junior usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wright wore a princess style coat and dress of pink silk faille with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Bradbury selected a pale pink silk shantung dress with white jacket and matching accessories. Her corsage was identical to Mrs. Wright's.

A reception in the social room of the church followed the ceremony. A five tiered wedding cake topped with white wedding bells and sequined doves was featured on the bride's table. Greenery and pink roses surrounded the cake which was flanked by pink tapers in crystal holders.

Guests were registered by Pat Dawley who served as a hostess along with Miss Joyce Valentine, Mrs. Geneva Stewart and Miss Suzanne Hildenbrand.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Logan Elm High School and has completed two years in elementary education at Ohio State University.

Mr. Bradbury graduated from Middleport High School in 1967 and attends Marietta College where he will be a senior. He is affiliated with Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity. This summer he is employed at the Ohio Valley Electric Co. at Cheshire.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bradbury, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Butcher, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Harris, Miss Nancy Harris, Mr. Sam Hood, Miss Kathy Morgan, Mrs. Lewis Sauer, Mr. Jim Conde, all of Middleport; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolfe and Wendy, Mrs. Bob Ford, Mr. Allen Boster, Gallipolis; Mr. Pat O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Blakeslee, Pomeroy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kitchen, Debbie and Denise, Mrs. Wallace Evans, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. John Cooke, Chillicothe; Miss Betty Wright, Mr. Ken Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wright, Mrs. Carroll Cunningham, Mrs. George Wright, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reibel, Morristown; Mrs. Leo Edwards, New York City; Mrs. Hilah Urban, Zanesville; Mrs. Lurene Kennedy, Galena; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Brewer, Westerville; Don Bucher, Pandora; Miss Christine Spooner, Long Island, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waple, Bowling Green; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Carl, Grove City; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrin, Mt. Vernon, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cochran, Worthington.

Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity brothers of the bridegroom attending were Mr. Joe Ballweg, Wapakoneta; Mr. Gordon Marsh, Kent; Mr. Phil Rice, Ironton; Mr. John Pavlick, McKeesport, Pa.; Mr. Rich Hancock, Long Island, N. Y.; Mr. Tom Petrick, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. Don Senior, Morristown, N. J.; Mr. James Dailey, Erie, Pa.; Mr. Jay Lenecker, Pittsburgh, Pa., Mr. Bob Hauser, Loveland.

Girls State Delegates Legion Auxiliary Guests

Diana Berry and Mary Beth Rhodes, 1970 delegates to Buckeye Girls State were special guests at the Monday evening meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary in the Post Home. They were introduced by Mrs. Forrest Hoffman, Americanism

chairman. Diana represented the Auxiliary and Mary Beth the Business and Professional Women. Diana thanked the Unit for sending her and said it was a memorable experience. Learning how our government is run, meeting and making new friends, listening to Governor Rhodes and other distinguished speakers and seeing the hard work and planning by the American Legion Auxiliary that goes into making Buckeye Girls State a success will long remain in the girls' memories. They each told of their days activities and offices they held. Mary Beth won first prize with her entry of a Llama made of balloons at their "Fair Day." The girls were taken on a bus tour which included the State House and other places of interest in Columbus. The inauguration of Pat Strode as Governor of Girls State was conducted by Judge Herbert and she was later elected as a delegate to Girls Nation in Washington D. C.

Miss Jane Gwyn Wright Is Bride
Of Mr. Charles Asa Bradbury II

MRS. CHARLES ASA BRADBURY II

Attired in a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace, Miss Jane Gwyn Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson E. Wright, Route 1, became the bride of Charles Asa Bradbury, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Asa Bradbury of Middleport.

Vows of the double ring ceremony were officiated by the Rev. Foster Jenne at 2:30 p.m., July 23, at Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church. Mrs. Norman Wilson was soloist and Mr. Donald Metzler, organist for the nuptial music.

Sprays of lily of the valley and greenery were fastened to each pew on the aisle leading to the altar decorated with baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked by candelabra.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown was fashioned with a natural bodice accented with beading at the waist, a high scalloped cameo neckline and long fan shaped sleeves. The A-line skirt was scalloped at the hemline and extended into a chapel train. Her full length veil of silk illusion was caught to a lace pillbox hat encrusted with pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses encircled with lily of the valley.

The bride's attendants were Miss Cindy Valentine, Circleville, as maid of honor; Miss Jeanne Wright, Miss Connie Wright, Miss Teresa Wright, Circleville; Miss Mary Bradbury, Middleport, and Miss

Jennifer Blakeslee, Pomeroy, bridesmaids. The attendants wore identical styled floor length gowns of pink leno lace with bateau neckline and long puffed sleeves, ruffled at the wrist. Circle veils of pink silk illusion were held by small pillbox hats. They carried colonial bouquets of pink sweetheart roses encircled with lily of the valley.

Flower girl was Miss Beth Ann Reichelderfer, a cousin of the bride. She wore a dress similar to the bridesmaids with a large pink bow in her hair and carried a basket of pink rose petals. Master Steven Congrove, a cousin of the bride, wore a white suit for his role as ring bearer.

Mr. Jim Butcher, Middleport, performed the duties of best man for the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Frederick W. Hancock, Long Island, N. Y.; Mr. James Dailey, Erie, Pa.; Mr. Don Senior, Morristown, N. J.; Mr. George Sauer, Middleport, all fraternity brothers of the groom. Mr. Terry Wright was junior usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wright wore a princess style coat and dress of pink silk faille with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Bradbury selected a pale pink silk shantung dress with jacket and matching accessories. Her corsage was identical to Mrs. Wright's. A reception in the social room of the church followed the ceremony. A five tiered wedding cake topped with white wedding bells and sequined doves was featured on the bride's table. Greenery and pink roses surrounded the cake which was flanked by pink tapers in crystal holders.

Guests were registered by Pat Dawley who served as a hostess along with Miss Joyce Valentine, Mrs. Geneva Stewart and Miss Suzanne Hildenbrand.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Logan Elm High School and has completed two years in elementary education at Ohio State University.

Mr. Bradbury graduated from Middleport High School in 1967 and attends Marietta College where he will be a senior. He is affiliated with Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity. This summer he is employed at the Ohio Valley Electric Co. at Cheshire.

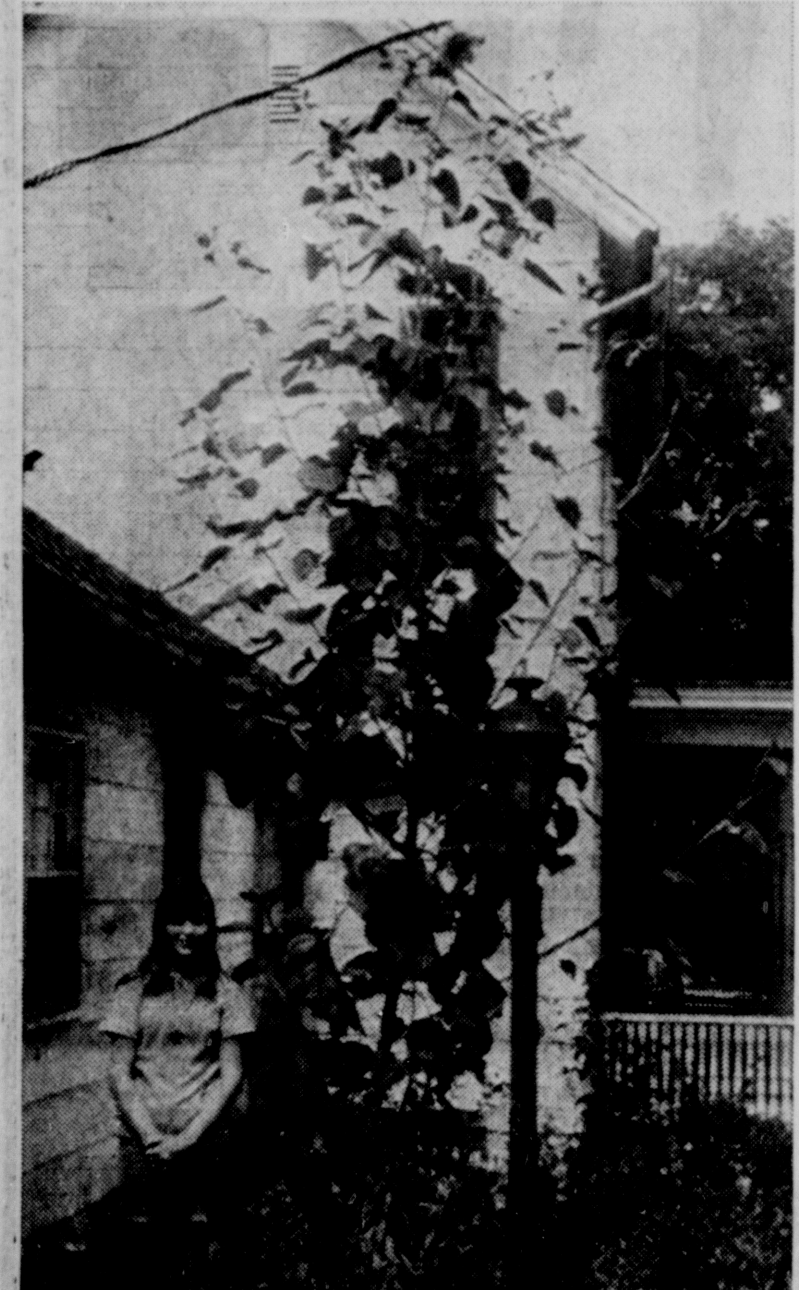

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bradbury, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Butcher, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Harris, Miss Nancy Harris, Mr. Sam Hood, Miss Kathy Morgan, Mrs. Lewis Sauer, Mr. Jim Conde, all of Middleport; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolfe and Wendy, Mrs. Bob Ford, Mr. Allen Boster, Gallipolis; Mr. Pat O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Blakeslee, Pomeroy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kitchen, Debbie and Denise, Mrs. Wallace Evans, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. John Cooke, Chillicothe; Miss Betty Wright, Mr. Ken Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wright, Mrs. Carroll Cunningham, Mrs. George Wright, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reibel, Morristown; Mrs. Leo Edwards, New York City; Mrs. Hilah Urban, Zanesville; Mrs. Lurene Kennedy, Galena; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Brewer, Westerville; Don Bucher, Pandora; Miss Christine Spooner, Long Island, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waple, Bowling Green; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Carl, Grove City; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrin, Mt. Vernon, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cochran, Worthington.

Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity brothers of the bridegroom attending were Mr. Joe Ballweg, Wapakoneta; Mr. Gordon Marsh, Kent; Mr. Phil Rice, Ironton; Mr. John Pavlick, McKeesport, Pa.; Mr. Rich Hancock, Long Island, N. Y.; Mr. Tom Petrick, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. Don Senior, Morristown, N. J.; Mr. James Dailey, Erie, Pa.; Mr. Jay Lenecker, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. Bob Hauser, Loveland.

Girls State Delegates Legion Auxiliary Guests

Diana Berry and Mary Beth Rhodes, 1970 delegates to Buckeye Girls State were special guests at the Monday evening meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary in the Post Home. They were introduced by Mrs. Forrest Hoffman, Americanism

chairman. Diana represented the Auxiliary and Mary Beth the Business and Professional Women. Diana thanked the Unit for sending her and said it was a memorable experience. Learning how our government is run, meeting and making new friends, listening to Governor Rhodes and other distinguished speakers and seeing the hard work and planning by the American Legion Auxiliary that goes into making Buckeye Girls State a success will long remain in the girls' memories. They each told of their days activities and offices they held. Mary Beth won first prize with her entry of a Llama made of balloons at their "Fair Day." The girls were taken on a bus tour which included the State House and other places of interest in Columbus. The Inauguration of Pat Strode as Governor of Girls State was conducted by Judge Herbert and she was later elected as a delegate to Girls Nation in Washington D. C.

A Creamy Chilled Soup
Cools Dinner Prologue

By ALICE DENHOFF

Chilled soups are a little bit different as the prologue to dinner. For many of us it's vichyssoise that comes to mind when cold soups are considered, but just the same there are numerous other chilled soups that are delicious, soups that are not difficult to prepare, either.

Dried soup mixes do the trick and here are three recipes made with mixes that you might like to try sometime this summer.

CREAMY CAULIFLOWER SOUP

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, sliced
3/4 cup chopped celery
1 envelope noodle soup mix with real chicken broth
2 cups boiling water
1 cup coarsely chopped cauliflower
1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
1 cup half and half
Melt butter in medium saucepan; cook onion and celery until tender. Stir in next 4 ingredients. Bring to a boil; simmer covered 10 minutes or until cauliflower is tender. Puree in blender. Add half and half; chill thoroughly. If desired, garnish with minced parsley.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williams, Lori and Matthew of Logan Elm Village, have returned from Arlington, Va., where they spent several days visiting with Mrs. Williams' sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Frankel and Julie.

Mrs. Shirley Wylie, 369 Markley Drive, has returned home after having spent the last six weeks attending Graduate School at the University of Toledo. She has completed almost all of the required work necessary to receive a master of education degree in Special Education. During this time, Mrs. Wylie spent the weekends with her family at their Catawba Cliffs home on Lake Erie.

Dinner Fetes
Birthdays

George Mowery and Paul Thompson were the honored guests at a surprise birthday dinner given by their families at the Wardell Party Home.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eitel, Kim and Karen; Mr. and Mrs. George Mowery, Mr. Ray Mowery, Miss Vivian Sheets, Mrs. Brad Thompson and Marci; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thompson, Miss Jan Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson.

Emmett Chapel
MYF Welcomes
New Members

Junior MYF of Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church met Sunday in the church with 15 members attending. Kathy Valentine presided over the business meeting and led members in repeating 'The Lord's Prayer.'

New members of the fellowship are Matt and Tim Thomas, and Penney Disbennett. Daird and William Rittinger were elected as co-chairmen of the scrapbook committee.

It was decided that the fellowship will have a bike hike beginning 9:30 a.m. Sept. 19, at Logan Elm Park. Members are to bring a sack lunch.

Tami Sparks served refreshments to Kathy Valentine, Tim Thomas, William Rittinger, Chuckie Wellman, Keith Dumm, Matt Thomas, Daird Rittinger, Penney and Donna Disbennett, Linda Myers, Cathy Wellman, Tami Sparks, Amy Edsel, Daird Beavers and Tacie Dumm.

Daird and William Rittinger will present devotions and provide refreshments for the Sept. 6 meeting.

Guild 48 Sets
Style Show

Berger Hospital Guild 48 held its August meeting in the home of Mrs. Donald Gaines, 226 Nicholas Drive.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Gaines, plans were completed for a Style Show to be held 8 p.m. Sept. 14 in the Circleville High School cafeteria.

Guild members and their families will be the models in fashions furnished by The Children's Shop and Deb Shop.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Chilled soups are a little bit different as the prologue to dinner. For many of us it's vichyssoise that comes to mind when cold soups are considered, but just the same there are numerous other chilled soups that are delicious, soups that are not difficult to prepare, either.

Dried soup mixes do the trick and here are three recipes made with mixes that you might like to try sometime this summer.

CREAMY CAULIFLOWER SOUP

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, sliced
¾ cup chopped celery
1 envelope noodle soup mix with real chicken broth
2 cups boiling water
1 cup coarsely chopped cauliflower
½ teaspoon caraway seeds
1 cup half and half
Melt butter in medium saucepan; cook onion and celery until tender. Stir in next 4 ingredients. Bring to a boil; simmer covered 10 minutes or until cauliflower is tender. Puree in blender.
Add half and half; chill thoroughly.
If desired, garnish with minced parsley.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Williams, Lori and Matthew of Logan Elm Village, have returned from Arlington, Va., where they spent several days visiting with Mrs. Williams' sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Frankel and Julie.

Mrs. Shirley Wylie, 369 Markley Drive, has returned home after having spent the last six weeks attending Graduate School at the University of Toledo. She has completed almost all of the required work necessary to receive a master of education degree in Special Education. During this time, Mrs. Wylie spent the weekends with her family at their Catawba Cliffs home on Lake Erie.

Dinner Fetes Birthdays

George Mowery and Paul Thompson were the honored guests at a surprise birthday dinner given by their families at the Wardell Party Home. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eitel, Kim and Karen; Mr. and Mrs. George Mowery, Mr. Ray Mowery, Miss Vivian Sheets, Mrs. Brad Thompson and Marci; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thompson, Miss Jan Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson.

Emmett Chapel MYF Welcomes New Members

Junior MYF of Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church met Sunday in the church with 15 members attending. Kathy Valentine presided over the business meeting and led members in repeating 'The Lord's Prayer.'

New members of the fellowship are Matt and Tim Thomas, and Penney Disbennett, Daird and William Rittinger were elected as co-chairmen of the scrapbook committee.

It was decided that the fellowship will have a bike hike beginning 9:30 a.m. Sept. 19, at Logan Elm Park. Members are to bring a sack lunch.

Tami Sparks served refreshments to Kathy Valentine, Tim Thomas, William Rittinger, Chuckie Wellman, Keith Dumm, Matt Thomas, Daird Rittinger, Penney and Donna Disbennett, Linda Myers, Cathy Wellman, Tami Sparks, Amy Edsel, Daird Beavers and Tacie Dumm.

Daird and William Rittinger will present devotions and provide refreshments for the Sept. 6 meeting.

Guild 48 Sets Style Show

Berger Hospital Guild 48 held its August meeting in the home of Mrs. Donald Gaines, 226 Nicholas Drive.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Gaines, plans were completed for a Style Show to be held 8 p.m. Sept. 14 in the Circleville High School cafeteria.

Guild members and their families will be the models in fashions furnished by The Children's Shop and Deb Shop.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Regular services were held Sunday at the local United Methodist Church with Rev. Wetherell in charge. Services this Sunday at the regular scheduled time with Mr. and Mrs. William Becker as receptionists. Mrs. Sandy Beckman and Sue Braskett in charge of the nursery.

The Mary Martha Class meeting was held Tuesday evening in the Fellowship Hall with hostesses Mrs. Margaret Steele, Mrs. June Steele and Mrs. Margaret Van Atta. The class is sponsoring a carry-in supper 6:30 p.m. Wednesday evening at the reception for the parsonage family. This annual good time welcomes everyone.

The Faith Baptist Church is gradually growing in attendance and Rev. Hohman extends a welcome to everyone. His new telephone number is 877-4591. They are distributing their bulletin from door-to-door explaining their teachings and various programs. Plan to attend some of these meetings.

Most of our patients seem to be on the improving list. Mrs. Margaret Van Atta returned last week following surgery at Riverside Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Linder returned last week following a week's vacation at Lakeside - Marblehead on Lake Erie where they were joined by their family. They report a good time and the fishing was extremely good. I can vouch for the fact that they caught some very nice perch, for I received a sample.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart and daughters Cheri and Connie have returned following a 10 day's vacation fishing and boating at Cumberland Lake, Ky.

Mrs. Laura Albright and son Jim II, are in Honolulu, Hawaii, for a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Juarez and her sisters and brother.

Mr. Orville J. Rasor, who retired last month from the Belt Corporation after 21½ years of service, is having a hard time adjusting to retirement — he is now painting his house.

Several from here attended the wedding in Holy Family Church last Saturday evening, when Miss Patricia Ann George became the bride of John Robert Myers. The 7:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leo Sullivan.

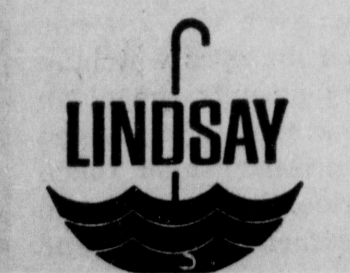

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard George of 430 S. Central Ave.,

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The inspiration for NBC's upcoming situation comedy, "Nancy," probably came at about the time President Lyndon B. Johnson's youngest, Luci, was married and went off to live in a Texas honeymoon cottage with room for her Secret Service protectors.

"Nancy," on the network's Thursday night schedule, arrives with plenty of protection, Nielsen type. "Ironside" is in front and Dean Martin is in back, a position in which it would be difficult to lose.

But viewers who look for Luci Nugent—or Julie Nixon Eisenhower—in the character of the president's daughter will be disappointed. Renne Jarrett—pronounced to rhyme with Jenny and barrette—and John Fink, soon to be launched as the series' stars, were among those informed that Sidney Sheldon, creator of "Nancy," first tried to get White House clearance to do the series during the Johnson administration. He failed. He tried again when Richard M. Nixon became president and this time there was no objection.

So "Nancy" went into production, perhaps the first television series in which the role of president of the United States is a minor part.

Renne and John are just two of a large group of ambitious, well-trained but unknown young performers who have been chosen to become overnight stars. Like most of them, they are quiet, almost shy and still have a slightly dumbfounded look of shock at their good fortune.

Renne made her theatrical debut at three months—in a soap commercial, and much later played continuing roles in a series of soap operas including "Portia Faces Life," "Edge of Night" and "Love of Life." She has also starred in more than 100 commercials.

She is a New Yorker, hates having her first name mispronounced as if it were French and is still living in the San Fernando Valley apartment with the working-girl roommates with whom she teamed up when she was just one of a lot of girls in Hollywood looking for work.

Fink, a native of Detroit, did postgraduate work in drama at Yale and studied acting with Lee Strasberg and Uta Hagen in New York. He was playing Thomas Jefferson in the Broadway musical "1776" when Sheldon saw him and asked him to test for the series.

Only star name in the series will be Celeste Holm, who will play Nancy's companion and buffer, a Liz Carpenter type. The story is set in Iowa, where the president's daughter meets and falls in love with a young veterinarian. They are married in an early episode, and the plots teem with animals—and bucolic goodwill, but the basic joke is based on the fact that it is hard for a president's daughter to have any privacy.

Midis Under Fire 'Poetically' In Columbus Protest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Hems up, hems down, don't let the fashion industry push you around."

"Manipulation is a pity — don't wear the midi."

These poetic slogans, and several others knocking current fashions, were displayed on signs carried by a score of young women demonstrating at the Statehouse Wednesday for women's liberation.

The demonstrators, most members of the National Organization for Women —NOW, were observing the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage.

Meanwhile, Roger Cloud, the Republican candidate for governor, issued a statement in which he pledged to include a woman in his cabinet.

Social Security Answers

Q — I collect social security widow's benefits. I never worked myself. Will my survivors get a lump-sum payment when I pass away?

A — No. The lump-sum payment is only made after the worker's death, and the worker must have credit for a certain amount of work under social security.

Q — When my wife died, I got a lump-sum payment. Must this money be used for burial expenses only?

A — No. You can use the check for any purpose. The lump-sum payment — equal to three times the deceased worker's retirement benefit or a maximum of $255 — must be used for burial expenses only if there is no surviving husband or wife. Then the payment goes to the person paying the burial expenses. If the expenses were not paid, the lump-sum can be paid directly to the funeral home.

Q — I am a 62-year-old teacher. I do not work during June, July and August, although I get pay checks for these months. Can I get social security retirement benefits for this period?

A — Yes. You are considered retired in any month you do not earn over $140 in wages or do no substantial work in self-employment. Since you aren't working in June, July and August, you are not earning pay in those months. The paychecks you get actually are earned during other months.

Q — I just turned 65. I was told if I do not perform substantial services in my business I could get social security benefits. What is meant by "substantial services"?

A — "Substantial services" refers to the amount of time you work in your business, the nature of your services, the type of business and the relationship of your activities before retirement to those after retirement. Usually, 45 or more hours of work in a month is considered "substantial services." Less than 45 hours may be considered substantial if the service is managing a large business or working in a highly skilled occupation. You can get more detailed information at your social security office. The office for this district is located at 606 Central Center in Chillicothe. The telephone number is 775-4950.

Irked By Resort Promotion Plan

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., says he has called a halt on use of his name by Dallas multimillionaire H. L. Hunt to promote a hot springs resort in West Texas.

"He did it without my permission," Teague said, "and I don't like it one bit. It's downright embarrassing. I've told him to cut it out."

Television viewers in Washington this week have been exposed to spot commercials extolling the benefits of Apache Indian Springs, owned by Hunt. They were invited to telephone the resort of Teague's private number for information.

Teague is home for a visit in his district, which includes Dallas, during a three-week recess of Congress.

Irked By Resort Promotion Plan

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., says he has called a halt on use of his name by Dallas multimillionaire H. L. Hunt to promote a hot springs resort in West Texas.

"He did it without my permission," Teague said, "and I don't like it one bit. It's downright embarrassing. I've told him to cut it out."

Television viewers in Washington this week have been exposed to spot commercials extolling the benefits of Apache Indian Springs, owned by Hunt. They were invited to telephone the resort of Teague's private number for information.

Teague is home for a visit in his district, which includes Dallas, during a three-week recess of Congress.

Band Preps For Preview

PERCUSSION — The percussion section of the Circleville High School Marching Band steps out sharply as they practice for the annual Band Preview scheduled Sept. 4 on Tiger field.

DIRECTING — Gary Dean, new director of the CHS marching band, watches as his charges go through drills in preparation for their first public appearance Sept. 4 at the high school football field.

105 STRONG — There are 105 candidates for the 1970-71 edition of the Circleville High School Marching Band. New band director Gary Dean is a graduate of CHS.

Curtain Goes Up At Expohio '70

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Want to take in a circus? The "greatest show on earth" is at the biggest show in America.

Perhaps you prefer music by some of show business' most famous entertainers.

Or maybe you like band contests, horse shows, livestock judging, harness racing or amateur boxing.

These and thousands of other attractions are featured at the 117th Ohio State Fair which began a 12-day run today.

Expohio '70 was officially opened with ribbon-cutting ceremonies at dawn by Gov. James A. Rhodes and other state officials. The All-Ohio Boys' Band Youth Choir and Camp Fire Girls Chorus provided music for the affair.

First fairgoer through the gates was 13-year-old Chester Blaney of Columbus who had spent the night in a sleeping bag and a total of 78 pre-fair hours at the main gate in order to be first.

Among those at the opening day ceremonies were members of the state fair board, state officials and the 1970 fair queen, Jane Loxan, 20, of Mount Gil-ead.

After the gate ceremonies another crowd gathered at the Department of Natural Resources exhibit area where the exhibit building, named in honor of Fred E. Morr, director of the department, was dedicated. A plaque marking the occasion was unveiled.

Perfect fair weather was available for opening day activities, which included a high school band festival, the start of exhibition judging, a 4-H horse show and free grandstand entertainment by Dave Merri-field's performing acrobats, musician Doc Severinsen and singer Engelbert Humperdinck of England.

Fair officials were hopeful today's attendance would top the 140,202 on opening day last year and that overall attendance for the 12-day run will exceed the record 2,053,971 hit last year.

All grandstand entertainment is free after paying the gate admission of $1.50 for adults and 25 cents for children under 12.

More than 68,000 separate exhibits, ranging from prize livestock to flower arranging, are on display.

Some 60 midway attractions include a roller coaster and giant slide.

Officials say the exposition on 360 acres of grounds on Columbus' north side has more livestock on display than any other show in the world, more art exhibits and more horses than any other state fair and features the world's largest junior fair.

MASTER CARRELL
Mr. and Mrs. Delano Carrell (Linda Markel), Route 1, Orient, are the parents of a 6-pound 14-ounce son born 5:07 a.m. Thursday in Berger Hospital.

Business Briefs

Charles Fletcher, operator of Fletcher's Texaco, has been appointed a representative of E Z Haul, a one-way truck and trailer rental system and a division of National Car Rental System, Inc.

Fletcher stated that as an EZ Haul dealer he will be offering for rental new Chevrolet trucks with power tailgates and luxury features not common to the industry such as deluxe cab interiors, radios and foam seats. Two sizes of closed trailers, dollies, pads, hitches, tow bars, car top carriers and other equipment will be available for local or one-way rental throughout the nation.

The new E Z Haul location is at Route 23 S. in Circleville, Ohio.

Road Mishaps Bring Injuries And Citation

An accident at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday resulted in an injury and citation while another mishap at 12:30 a.m. Thursday injured an Ashville man.

Kim Clarke, 5, Tarlton, injured her arm and back when a car driven by her mother, Diana Lynn Clarke, 25, Tarlton, was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Edford Whitt, 47, Canton. She was referred to her doctor for treatment.

Mrs. Clarke stated she was northbound on Route 139, south of Tarlton, when she slowed for a curve and was struck from behind by the Whitt auto.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff's report, Whitt failed to stop after the collision. He was apprehended by Lancaster police and held for Sheriff Radcliff who cited Whitt for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead and leaving the scene of an accident.

DANNY L. Kretzer, 19, Ashville, received cuts and bruises when his car left Route 104 in Scioto Twp. and tore down a farm fence and two mailboxes.

Kretzer told Deputies Lowell Ferguson and Don Thompson he was forced off the road by an oncoming car.

Cloud Lauds Rhodes For 'Finest' Expo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Republican candidate for governor, Roger Cloud, spoke at ceremonies opening the Ohio State Fair today and pledged to continue the fair "to mirror the state's accomplishments in agriculture, business and government."

Cloud, a former farmer, praised Gov. James A. Rhodes and the fair staff "for having developed the fair into a position where it is the finest ever held in Ohio and the finest in America."

Berger Governing Unit Meets With Administrator

Berger Hospital's Board of Governors held its first monthly meeting Wednesday with the new hospital administrator in attendance.

All board members were present at last night's session to hear reports on accreditation and minor reforms suggested by Administrator John Reid.

A list of 25 items considered in the "dry run" accreditation inspection last month was discussed. The hospital met all but a few of the standards without difficulty.

Complaints on the condition of Berger's emergency room were aired by several members, including Dr. J. M. Hedges. More space and better staffing is greatly needed for emergency treatment. Faults listed in the discussion were lack of rooms for examination and lack of waiting room space, all contributing to a severe lack of privacy, and equipment unhandy and difficult to use in the conditions.

CROWDED conditions were also noted for clinics such as the well-child, pre-natal and cancer clinics held at the hospital.

Reid commented he had investigated an opportunity to get a temporary structure donated for their use to ease the space problem. The board gave their permission for the administrator to pursue the possibility.

A suggestion was offered by the executive committee of the medical staff to employ chief residents from Ohio State University to staff the emergency room. Studies of the possibility have shown the cost to be $456 per weekend for the residents' salaries. With similar fees collected by the hospital and doctors at the present time, it appears that the hospital would break even and might even show a small profit under that system.

A committee consisting of Dr. F. W. Anderson, Harry Clifton Jr. and Henry Schroeder, were named to study the proposal.

The hospital staff also requested that action be taken soon to fill the vacancy left several months ago when Dr. E. L. Montgomery resigned. At Reid's request, the board approved a promotion in title only of John Barnes to Assistant Administrator. According to Reid, Barnes' previous title of Director of Physical Services was inappropriate for the duties he performed. The change would not alter any other duties or salary.

REID also proposed to employ a legal firm to make an audit on Berger Hospital's books to seek new cost-reducing options which would be available, especially in the field of Medicare and Blue Cross.

Commenting on the space problem the administrator proposed that a storage shed in the rear of the hospital property should be cleared of unusable property, such as old wheel chairs, a dental chair, rugs, drinking fountain, air conditioners and other items.

The "junk" was distributed to the general guild for disposal. Their plans include a "bargain barn" sale sometime in the future.

Red Cross Board Hears Fund Chairman

Miss Jane Wristen, national representative for Red Cross and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boyer of Mt. Vernon were guests Wednesday night of the Pickaway County Chapter, American Red Cross at the monthly board of directors meeting.

Boyer, a retired executive vice president of Cooper-Bessamer and a member of the Knox County Red Cross board, appeared in the capacity of central Ohio combined service territory fund chairman for the Red Cross.

In this volunteer staff position, he explained to board members the cardinal principal of fund raising to see the public understands the organization and its operation.

His visit coincided with the Community Fund Campaign, now in the planning stages. The Pickaway County Red Cross Chapter is a community fund-affiliated agency.

REPORTS of note during the routine business session of the board Wednesday included the past months service to 87 military families, a busy month according to Mrs. Roliff Wolford, executive secretary, who counseled or assisted 44 servicemen.

In answer to a request, John Harbaugh, vice chairman of the local Red Cross chapter and qualified Red Cross First Aid instructor reported he will be conducting classes in first aid for personnel of the local RCA facility. Classes are scheduled to begin next week for bi-weekly sessions.

Christmas may be in the distant future to the general public. To Mrs. Lewis Dean, the significant holiday currently is in the planning stages for the Chillicothe VA Hospital Christmas Gift Store. Gifts to supply the store are contributed by clubs, merchants, individuals and organizations. The Pickaway County Red Cross Chapter is responsible for 300 gifts to the store. These must be in by Nov. 20.

In addition, Mrs. Dean who serves as the VA Hospital program chairman, representing local Red Cross, said several hundred cardboard boxes are needed for packaging and mailing the gifts to families of VA Hospital patients.

Board members approved payment of bills totaling $67.55 to cover the cost of Red Cross supplies used to provide food and beverages to crews who worked at recovering the body of a drowning victim in Deer Creek Reservoir last week.

Chapter Chairman Howard Judd presided at the Wednesday meeting. Twelve board members were present.

Brooks-Yates School To Resume Classes

The Brooks-Yates School for Retarded Children will resume classes Sept. 1.

Staff for the 1970-71 school year includes: Donald Hough, administrator and workshop superintendent; Miss Roberta Wylie, developmental class; Mrs. Jane Hamman, class 2; Mrs. Harriet Morris, class 2; Mrs. Leora Sayre, class 4; Mrs. Betty Williams, class aide; Mrs. Mary Ann Willoughby, instructor assistant; Mrs. Carol Cupp, bus driver and Mrs. Mary Welsh, bus driver.

month according to Mrs. Roliff Wolford, executive secretary, who counseled or assisted 44 servicemen.

In answer to a request, John Harbaugh, vice chairman of the local Red Cross chapter and qualified Red Cross First Aid instructor reported he will be conducting classes in first aid for personnel of the local RCA facility. Classes are scheduled to begin next week for bi-weekly sessions.

Christmas may be in the distant future to the general public. To Mrs. Lewis Dean, the significant holiday currently is in the planning stages for the Chillicothe VA Hospital Christmas Gift Store. Gifts to supply the store are contributed by clubs, merchants, individuals and organizations. The Pickaway County Red Cross Chapter is responsible for 300 gifts to the store. These must be in by Nov. 20.

In addition, Mrs. Dean who serves as the VA Hospital program chairman representing local Red Cross, said several hundred cardboard boxes are needed for packaging and mailing the gifts to families of VA Hospital patients.

Board members approved payment of bills totaling $67.55 to cover the cost of Red Cross supplies used to provide food and beverages to crews who worked at recovering the body of a drowning victim in Deer Creek Reservoir last week.

Chapter Chairman Howard Judd presided at the Wednesday meeting. Twelve board members were present.

Brooks-Yates School To Resume Classes

Do You Understand The 'Freshness' Code?

EDITOR'S NOTE — Which came first, these eggs or those eggs? The carton numbered 4254 or the carton marked 2252? It used to be that only your grocer knew for sure. But now a lot of consumers are demanding to be let in on the secret. Follow it; is a report on the coding of foods by AP's Living Today department.

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Nestled neatly row on row on grocery shelves, one box of medium Grade A eggs looks like all the others. The question is, however, "which box is freshest?"

The grocer and the supermarket clerk can tell quite easily by reading the codes on meat, butter, eggs, poultry, produce and other perishables which tell how long a product has been on the shelf.

But it is a rare housewife, indeed, who can crack the cryptic code.

This is the way it usually works: Find the four digit number stamped on a package. The sum of the first and last digits corresponds to the number of the month of the year. The middle two digits indicate the day of the month. (Thus, Aug. 25, would be 4254.) If the code is underlined, it's the day the eggs were packaged. If not, it's the day they should be removed from the cooler.

Or maybe it's the day they were laid.

Few shoppers appear to know a coding system of freshness exists at all. But almost all the 8,000 or so items in a typical supermarket are coded in various forms. Many grocers know the codes and have instructions from retailers not to offer "crib" sheets to the customers. But sometimes even the most seasoned grocers can't figure them out.

There's no uniformity in the coding. In a large food chain in Detroit, the day the bread is baked is marked by a colored tie on the package. The tie colors change daily.

In a Cleveland grocery, a package of Swiss cheese marked 0365 means it was packaged the 36th day of the year. But some weeks they reverse this and a package marked 0365 means it was packaged on January 1.

The food industry argues the codes protect the consumer while consumer advocates insist the codes confuse the customer who has a right to know the quality of the food he's buying.

"With prices the way they are and with food taking such a huge cut out of everyone's income, naturally the customer wants to be sure he gets what he pays for," said Erma Angevine, executive director of the Consumer Federation of America.

Neighborhood Carnivals Net $50 For MDAA

Muscular dystrophy contributions were boosted by $50 Tuesday following two neighborhood carnivals staged in Circleville.

Jerry Yeatts of 507 N. Pickaway St. and assistants Jackie Peters, Mark and Chrystal Stimper, Paul Johnson and Michael Thomas raised $32 in a backyard carnival featuring pot ball, fortune telling, marble shoot, tin target pie toss, penny pitch and a food stand.

At 289 Edwards Road, Diane and Doug Green added $18 to the MD fund at a similar carnival. Assisting them to stage the event were Sandy Ash, Sonia and Todd Brumfield and Andy Smith.

TV personality Jerry Lewis promotes the idea of backyard carnivals by children throughout the nation in cooperation with Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America (MDAA). Funds raised are used for vital research and patient service programs of the association.

"Why shouldn't the customer know what he's buying?" asked Frank Pollock, assistant to the director of the Consumer's Union which publishes Consumer's Report. "It's an insult to the consumer to pick up a package and not be able to read all the information on it."

If the consumer did know, food industry officials contend, he would buy only the freshest food. As a result, they say, perfectly good, high quality goods — though not as fresh — would go to waste, thus driving up the prices.

"Take milk," said Wayne Warrington, public affairs director of the National Association of Food Chains.

"Usually, milk sells so fast that you have a three-day turnover. But if it is stored properly in a refrigerator that is not opened and closed, and has no temperature or humidity change, it can be just as good and tasty and nutritious after three or four weeks."

Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant on consumer affairs, has supported a standardized system of coding so consumers can walk into any stores and understand the apak aging system.

"We're chiding the food industry for its failure to develop proper microbiological standards so all manufacturers will agree on the same date to pull the items off the shelves," said Frank McLaughlin, director of Industry Relations in Mrs. Knauer's office.

Last spring 57 congressmen proposed a bill to require "open dating" on all perishables. Under this proposed legislation, the date the item should be removed from the shelf would be stamped on the label. A spokesman from the office of one of the bill's sponsors, Rep. Leonard Farberstein, D-N.Y., said, "Right now it (the bill) is just sitting on ice. We don't expect much to happen for awhile."

The Department of Agriculture recently released a study of nine European countries with comprehensive standardized coding systems which indicated that under the new system customers continued to buy all the food, not only the freshest, and prices did not soar.

Food chains around the country are wrestling with the problem of how to meet the consumers' demands for a comprehensive coding system. Jewel Co. of Chicago and Stop 'N' Shop of Boston last month placed code translating booklets in all their supermarkets.

Safeway, Inc. the huge supermarket chain, for years has "open dated" all the foods it processes. Now it's asking its retailers to do the same. Several other chains have signs on their supermarket walls with instructions on how to understand the codes.

"There's clearly movement in the industry," said James Turner, a supermarket researcher with Ralph Nader's Center for Responsive Law in Washington, D.C.

"Open dating will be a reality very soon," he predicted. "Some of the big companies are getting into it now. The rest will have to follow."

Metallic Pollution Termed 'Insidious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pollution by toxic metals presents "a much more serious and... insidious problem" than environmental damage from pesticides, weed-killers and nitrogen oxides, an expert has told a Senate subcommittee.

Lower-Income Housing Gets New Impetus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communities providing housing for families of low and moderate income are being given priority in the scramble for federal urban renewal and housing funds, says Housing Secretary George W. Romney.

However, Romney said, the Department of Housing and Urban Development has rejected a presidential task force suggestions that federal funds be withheld from communities which do not make housing available to lower-income families.

He told the Senate Equal Educational Opportunity Committee Wednesday that screening of applicants may accomplish the goal set by the task force.

"Most HUD grant programs have far more applications for grants than can be accommodated with federal funds," he said. Selection procedures in effect for some programs and being developed for others take into account local efforts to meet housing needs, he added.

"As an example, applications for new community loan guarantees are evaluated, in part, on the basis of the appropriate balance of housing opportunities for low- and moderate-income families and assurance of non-discrimination in housing," Romney said.

The Senate panel is probing school integration and such related issues as segregated housing. Some members contend—as does Romney—that housing and school segregation are linked closely.

Mobile Counseling Service Established

This would be more than 2,100 warheads using Laird's figure of "well over 700" Soviet SS11s, or 2,400 using the figure given congressional committees, this spring of 800 Soviet SS11s as of February this year.

The Soviets previously tested multiple warheads on their giant SS9—more than twice the size of the SS11 and the Minuteman—but have not deployed them. Deployment of multiple warheads on U.S. Minuteman III missiles is under way.

Besides the SS11s, Laird said, the Soviets have about 300 SS9s and about 100 SS13s, a missile comparable to the SS11 and Minuteman.

The United States has about 1,000 Minuteman missiles, of which 10 have been outfitted so far with three warheads each that can be targeted independently on enemy points.

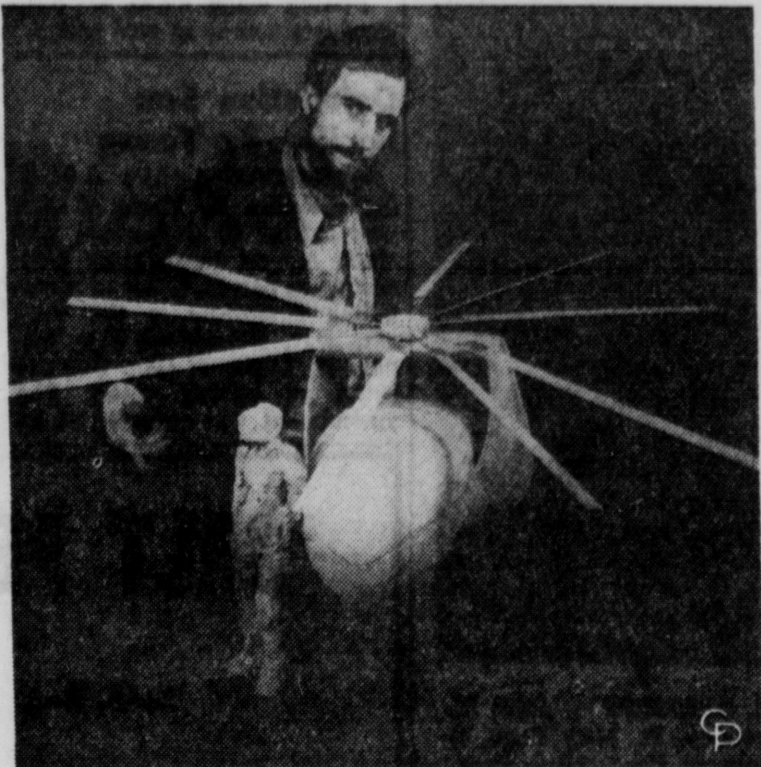

Dr. John Foster, the Pentagon's top scientist as director of defense research, said, meanwhile, he is concerned not with the present U.S.-Soviet "rough parity" but with the momentum of the Soviet weapons buildup while the United States stands still.

"The time is right to try to work out something with the Soviets," he said, referring to the current U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks. "But they still have the momentum," Foster told 300 students.

Metallic Pollution Termed 'Insidious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pollution by toxic metals presents "a much more serious and insidious problem" than environmental damage from pesticides, weed-killers and nitrogen oxides, an expert has told a Senate subcommittee.

"Those metallic and elemental pollutants we have with us now are here to stay for a long time," Dr. Henry Schroeder said Wednesday in urging senators to make every effort to slow the buildup of elements which are toxic and can cause degenerative diseases.

Schroeder, a physiology professor at Dartmouth Medical School, said there is "little doubt in my mind that cadmium pollution is a major factor in human high blood pressure, of which 23 million Americans suffer."

In testimony inserted in the record by the Senate panel's chairman, Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Schroeder added: "There is little doubt that at the present rate of pollution, diseases due to lead toxicity will emerge within a few years."

"Cadmium in air can be minimized or virtually abolished by abatement of zinc, from which it comes," while lead in air can be wiped out by eliminating alkyl lead additives to gasoline, he said.

Meanwhile, toxic problems of arsenic, lead and cadmium were reviewed by Carl L. Klein, assistant secretary of the Interior for water quality and research, who reported 4,800 pounds of lead and 98 pounds of arsenic are being discharged daily into the lower Mississippi River.

Louisiana authorities plan to hold hearings to ask offenders the same questions raised in mercury pollution cases, Klein said: "What are you going to do about these heavy metals?" and "When are you going to take action?"

The federal officials also said they will not tolerate after six months any detected amount of man-made mercury pollution.

Lower-Income Housing Gets New Impetus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communities providing housing for families of low and moderate income are being given priority in the scramble for federal urban renewal and housing funds, says Housing Secretary George W. Romney.

However, Romney said, the Department of Housing and Urban Development has rejected a presidential task force suggestion that federal funds be withheld from communities which do not make housing available to lower-income families.

He told the Senate Equal Educational Opportunity Committee Wednesday that screening of applicants may accomplish the goal set by the task force.

"Most HUD grant programs have far more applications for grants than can be accommodated with federal funds," he said. Selection procedures in effect for some programs and being developed for others take into account local efforts to meet housing needs, he added.

"As an example, applications for new community loan guarantees are evaluated, in part, on the basis of the appropriate balance of housing opportunities for low- and moderate-income families and assurance of non-discrimination in housing," Romney said.

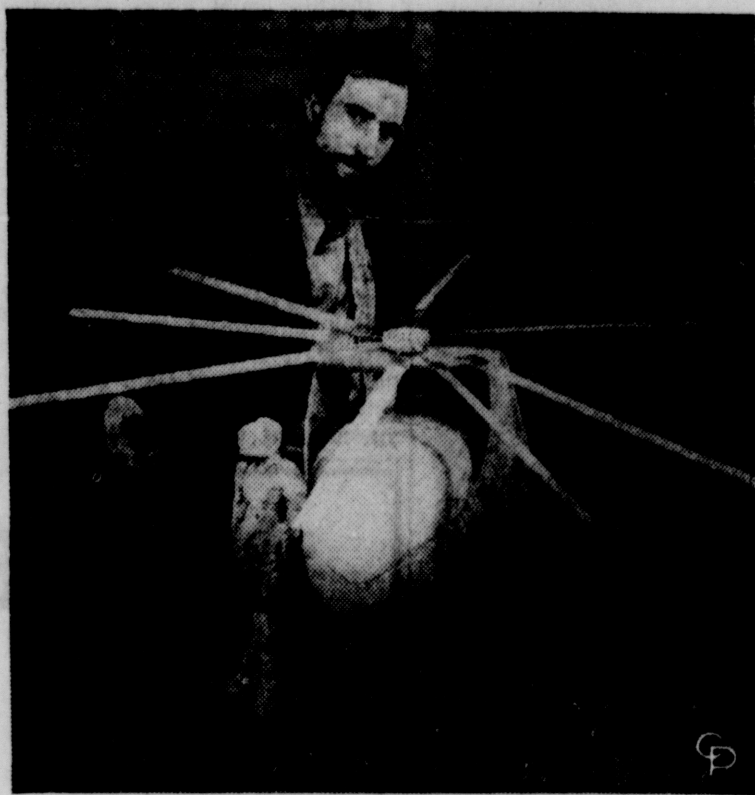

The Senate panel is probing school integration and such related issues as segregated housing. Some members contend—as does Romney—that housing and school segregation are linked closely.

Mobile Counseling Service Established

VANCOUVER, Canada (AP) — Agnes Kripps, Social Credit member of the British Columbia legislature for Vancouver South, has urged establishment of a mobile counseling service for young people throughout the province. Mrs. Kripps says her proposed "opportunity caravan" could provide information in such areas as education jobs and drug abuse.

Joint U.S. - Soviet Peace Force In Mideast Hinted

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — High administration officials say the United States would seriously consider agreeing to have U.S. and Soviet units join in a peacekeeping force for the Middle East.

The administration spokesmen say they have in mind a physical presence of the two powers, perhaps as an observer force, under a United Nations umbrella.

The concept was outlined to 48 newspaper and broadcast executives from 13 Western states Monday. Release of the information was withheld for 48 hours. Ground rules of the session forbid direct quotation and identification of the sources.

The officials said Israel, in particular, wants on-the-ground security arrangements for assurance it is agreeing to a real, not a paper peace. They said U.N. involvement would not mean mere recourse to the Security Council, which the United States considers loaded against Israel.

Administration strategy for the Middle East is being built around the possibility that the United States and the Soviet Union may be enmeshed here in definitely in on-the-scene peacekeeping, the briefers said, and that both powers will have to agree to any settlement terms.

Whether the two would have to become involved in practical details of peacekeeping activities is still an open question, they said, but the United States never has precluded such an assignment and apparently does not intend to do so now.

The briefing was the third in a series of five that will cover all regions of the country. In large measure it was repetitive of one earlier in the month at New Orleans for the South.

On other points, the briefers said:

School Executives Would Accept Cuts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — School Superintendent Paul W. Briggs says he and his six top administrators will turn back 10 per cent of their salaries for the next three months to help the Cleveland school system with its budget problems.

Dr. Briggs had said Tuesday that he would attempt to cut the school budget by 10 per cent.

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is underscoring the "Nixon Doctrine" on his current Asian trip, promising support but encouraging Asian nations to help themselves.

—As a result of the Cambodian sanctuary operations. The chances of survival of the current Lon Nol government in Cambodia are better than 50-50, compared to about one in four before that move.

—The strategic arms limitation talks, viewed with continued cautious optimism, are considered to be the best arms control negotiations the United States has ever engaged in with the Soviet Union. And, the Russians are described as taking a more sober approach than ever before.

—On dissent in the United States over Vietnam policy, the administration was described as conscious of the concern of some of the country's most dedicated people. But one of the briefing officials commented that the people do not forgive leaders if they produce disasters—even if these disasters carry out the wishes of the people.

Amanda Hires Elementary Principal

Charles Martindale was employed as the Amanda Elementary School principal at a special session of the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education this week.

The board also approved a Title I reading program for the 1970-71 school year and employed Mrs. Jo Riegel to teach the program.

A resolution was passed to charge seven cents for all extra milk because federal funding of the school milk program had been discontinued.

Tuition students to the district and attendance of four students to Lancaster Vocational School were approved.

The school dress code was modified to permit all girls Kindergarten through the 12th grade to wear culottes to school.

A new system of grading and promotion was studied and approved. In other business the board agreed to purchase signs for designation of offices and other locations in the buildings and decided not to employ another cook for the Amanda cafeteria.

Present at the meeting were board members Jack W. Fausnaugh, Robert W. Turner and Paul D. Kraft. Also in attendance were Superintendent William A. Smith, High School Principal Richard V. Smith, Junior High School Principal D. Wayne Evans and Clerk Ann Cole.

If you discover your son or daughter is using drugs, don't turn the youngster over to police or go into a rage and order him out of the house.

"Keep your cool and don't panic."

These tips were offered at a conference on the drug crisis and the church at Glorieta Baptist Assembly grounds near Santa Fe, N.M., last week, sponsored by the Southern Baptist Church Eyes Family Drug Problem

Christian Life Commission.

Instead of calling the police, a parent who learns his child is using drugs should call a physician and seek his advice and help, said the Rev. Dr. Henlee H. Barnette, a professor of Christian ethics.

Usually, he said, a physician will be sympathetic and know what further steps to take for rehabilitation.

He said turning a youngster over to police could be one of the most damaging things a parent can do, and might turn the youth permanently against his parents and result in his expulsion from school and imprisonment.

Prison could mean a "post-graduate course in real crime," the professor added.

Dr. Barnette, of Louisville's Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, said one of the first things a parent should do is to talk openly with their youngster about his problem—and to listen, as well as give advice. "The victim of drugs needs to be heard rather than harranged and harassed," he said.

"Scare tactics" to try to frighten children off drugs won't work, he added, saying it would only cause them to "turn a deaf ear" because they usually know more about drug effects than the parents.

Such tactics, he said, simply cause "further alienation."

If the youngster has become a pusher—a drug peddler—and won't voluntarily seek help, the parents may have to notify authorities, he said, adding:

"If he is a junky and will not seek help, about the only thing parents can do is to kick him out." Dr. Barnette said that for parents to continue to support a pusher would merely feed his habit, which would get bigger.

It would "keep him an infant, a baby, and this is what he wants. He must give up drugs, or leave." But Dr. Barnette said before taking such drastic action, every effort should be made to get the youngster into a hospital or rehabilitation program.

He said the church, in order to deal effectively with the drug problem, must develop special ministries within the drug culture and a "fellowship of sharing" to help the addict break the chemical walls separating him from others. He added:

"Wherever men stand in need of help and healing, this is where the church is to be."

The Westfall Band's first venture at band camp has all the earmarks of being successful. Everyone feels it was a tremendous experience. A number of parents and friends journeyed down to Canters Caves and were pleased with the concert presented by the band on guest night. Several individual acts were performed much to the delight of those attending. With the school being consolidated you must keep in mind that some of the folks there I did not know but the ones there I am acquainted with were: Bill and Norma Keller, Grace Ann Hulse, Ruth Long, Lawrence and Dorothy Carle, Ruth Schleich, Paul and Helen Whitesed, Gene and Pat Norris, Cecil and Judy Galloway, Maynard and Velma Marshall, George and Shirley Dean, Paul and Mary Alice Schein, Carl and Wanda Hooks, Dorothy Seaburn, Dave and Rita Long, Jim and Helen Fausnaugh, the McPhersons, the David Sniders of Darbyville, Nancy McDill, Bonnie Long, Kay Whitesed, Connie Hooks, John Valone, Sue Graffis, Mike Martin, Steve Wynn, Marc Easterday, yours truly and several small brothers and sisters.

In our car were four young teen-agers and what a joy they made the trip! It was funsville all the way down and back. With kids like these growing up to take leadership we need not worry.

The band will be one of the main attractions at the annual Westfall Mustang Round-up to be held Friday evening, Aug. 28. Also to make the evening very enjoyable will be several talent acts by residents of the school district.

The executive school personnel and their families will be introduced and last but by no means least, will be the introduction of the hardworking, high-spirited, out-to-win Mustang football fellows, the cheerleaders, that up and at'em head coach Bill Vance, his assistant Tom Hamman and during all this the patrons will be seated on the brand spanking new bleachers built through the efforts of the Booster Club and donations of interested persons. Prior to all the above mentioned activity which starts at 7:30 p.m. a fish supper will be served in the school cafeteria from 5 until 7 p.m.

Family Reunion
The American Legion Hall is fast becoming the "in" place to have family gatherings and so it was for the big family reunion tossed by Harry and Emma Puffinbarger with the honor guests being her son Marion, his spouse Gretchen and their Bob from Winter Haven, Fla.

Guests flocked in from all points of the compass and from Circleville came Mr. and Mrs. Luther List, Ronald List and his Judy and Marilyn, Mrs. Saralyn Steinhauer, Douglas, Anna and William Jr.; Mrs. Kate Steinhauer from Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. David List, David Brent, Ann of Celina; Mr. and Mrs. Mark List and Dawn, Mr. and Mrs. Don Steinhauer, Kelly and Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Steinhauer, all of Grove City; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Banks and Trent of Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Steinhauer, Joey, Jamey, Scott and Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. Lester McMurray family all of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fulton, Gany Beougher and Sue Brathwaite from Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Steinhauer, Mr. and Mrs. Noah List from Williamsport.

While the Florida Steinhauers were here visiting, their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schuelter of Holgate came down to spend a few days with them. (They were smart — they parked up in the Puffinbarger yard).

On Thursday the Steinhauers embarked for Allentown, Pa., where a son was auditioning for the Fred Waring Show. He has been placed on standby and can be called at any time. From thence they left for their home in Florida.

Vacationers

Mrs. John (Mary) Picklesimer thoroughly enjoyed her six day visit with daughter Gladys and her sidekick Sam Colter and their doll Angela at West Point, Ky. Mary's sister Lorna and her hubby Charles Pitt also were in the area to visit with their daughter and her new husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Reisinger. Mr. Colter and Mr. Reisinger are both with the army stationed at Fort Knox. The Colters spent some time here in Ohio and during the visit Sam celebrated his birthday with a family dinner at the Williamsport park. Those wishing him a happy day were Mrs. Jim Kneec and her Jim Jr., Tom, David and Carol Anne; Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Picklesimer and daughters Christy and Laurie; Misses Karen and Kathy (twins) Kneec of Circleville; Mr. Joe Fenneken, Mrs. John Picklesimer and Dodie. Another happy happening at the Picklesimer household is the engagement of Dodie to George Grooms Jr. of Washington C. H. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Joe and Nellie Wright, Judy and Gary returned Saturday from a camping type vacation down through Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina and all points of interest.

Gordon and Marvin Rihl and their long-time good friends and vacation together pals, Joe and Amelia Wardell did the East coast scene this year. Washington D. C. and several other historic rich areas was their bag.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Patterson and Mickey spent their vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piper of Rockland, Wis. Other relatives and friends were included on the agenda and a highlight of it all for Benton and Mickey was attending a big auto race on the newly built speedway at LaCrosse, Wis.

Mrs. Wilson (Virginia) Lehman and her two charmers, Dawn Denise and Larry have been visiting with papa and mama, Robert and Margaret Barnes and Tom, Paul and Bob and Virginia's sisters and their spouses, Mr. and Mrs. Dan (Sara) Davis of near Piqua; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan (Ruth) Wilson, localities; Mr. and Mrs. Walt (Ann) Packer and Sharon Lynn of Mt. Vernon. The Lehmans have just recently moved from their Albuquerque, N. M. home to near Chicago, Ill.

Lloyd and Margie Drummond hosted a reunion on the Daugherty, Fox and Bennett side of the family at their home near Clarksburg. David and Marabel and their gals, Conale, Sandee and Joy attended the event with David serving as driver for the hay ride that provided part of the afternoon's entertainment. Sandee has been practicing daily for her vocal solo in the Grange contest at the State Fair. She was the top winner in her category in her district which was made up of eleven counties. We all wish you well, Sandee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen and Linda of Oakland, Calif., have returned to their home after a wee bit of a harrowing experience. They had spent time here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Allen and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark, Dee, Mike and Mark. Flying home they expected a 42 minutes holdover at Chicago but much to their consternation it became a two and one half hours stacked time because all the runways but one were being cleaned and repaired. Stacked means you stay up in the air circling in a prescribed manner. While they were here they visited another sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bower, an uncle who is slightly under the weather, Mr. William Strodsner of West Jefferson. They also went through Georgesville and the twin bridges (where Big and Little Darby Creeks flow) and enjoyed the many variety of ducks swimming there. At one point in their stay John was invited by Jack Clark to take a drive and ended up in Roanoke, Virginia. Meanwhile, Pat Clark took mama Allen, Margaret and Linda Allen and Dee Clark for a spin south to Portsmouth, up along the river, across over to Kentucky, back up to Manchester and Fort Hill Memorial which is well worth anyone going to see.

Good old George and Marilyn Lemaster and their Cathy, Joey, Paula and Stephanie were in town for a few days with Donnie Bill and Ruth Schleich and their gals. The Lemasters have moved from St. Albans, W. Va., to a small town just outside New Orleans, La.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Surprise Visit Turns Into Soupy Tale

DEAR ABBY: Last month I started to work in a large insurance office, and right off the bat I became attracted to a good looking young department head. Not bragging, but I've got a lot going for me, too. I'm 24, single, and a well-built redhead who never lacked for attention.

Well, "Department Head" and I started seeing each other a lot, but always at my place. (He was sort of secretive about where he lived.)

Yesterday he called in sick with a chest cold, so I decided to surprise him with some chicken soup. (I got his address from the office files.)

When I rang his bell, I was the one who got the surprise! A tall, skinny blonde about my age answered his door in a bath towel. At first she wasn't going to let me in, but I pushed her aside and went right to the bedroom to see my sick friend. He was sick all right, and he got sicker when he saw me. The bedroom looked plenty "lived in." If you know what I mean. Her stuff thrown all over the place along with his.

"Department Head" said Blondie was a childhood chum who had come to town to hunt a job, was low on funds so he was putting her up temporarily. Now, Abby, how does this story sound to you?

RED
DEAR RED: Fishy. "Department Head" could have helped the blonde by giving her a few dollars for a pad of her own. (P. S. Too bad you didn't know in advance that you were going to cook his goose. You could have skipped the chicken soup.)

DEAR ABBY: I know a woman who goes to "A. A." meetings all the time, and she's not an alcoholic. This is the truth, Abby. She told me so herself, but she asked me not to tell anybody. She has never had a drinking problem, but she says she goes there because she's "lonesome" and nobody asks her any questions.

She says she has met a lot of very nice men that way—and women, too. What do you think of such a person?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: She must be very lonesome. (And clever, too.)

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law isn't really a mean person, she's just ignorant. How else can you describe a person who introduces me and my children this way?

"This is my daughter in law and her two adopted children." Abby, I have to bite my lip to keep from crying when I hear her say this.

My children are only one year old and two and a half—still a little too young to know what "adopted" means, but as soon as they are old enough to understand, I intend to tell them. But in the meantime, what can be done about such a stupid woman?

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR YOUNG: Someone should tell her in a nice way to disengage her mouth until she's sure her brain is in gear.

DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to that poor mixed up teenage girl whose father called her a tramp because she slept with different boys. I was in that girl's shoes when I was in teens and my father never called me a tramp. He helped me all the way because he knew I was a troubled, mixed-up kid. I am now a happy wife and mother and I hope my father is proud of me now because I am very proud of him.

Girls who are called tramps by their fathers usually stay tramps all their lives. God bless m/ dad.

Metzenbaum, Taft Planning 5 TV Debates

CINCINNATI (AP) — Aides for U. S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr. and Howard Metzenbaum will meet soon to hammer out details for five televised debates between the two U. S. senatorial candidates.

Taft, a Republican, proposed during a news conference here Wednesday that debates be aired either live or taped in Youngstown, Toledo, Columbus, Cincinnati-Dayton, and Cleveland-Akron. The Cleveland millionaire quickly accepted.

Metzenbaum, who has blasted Taft recently for not having consented to such debates said, "Although it took Taft three months to respond, it is apparent that the press of public opinion has demanded these debates and I am glad he has at last agreed to them."

Taft has contended that his scheduling has prevented him from making any arrangements and "it's just that I have a problem that Mr. Metzenbaum does not — my congressional duties and my many other commitments."

Taft said that the debates could be held in Youngstown on Sept. 19; Toledo on Sept. 25; Columbus on Oct. 2; in Cincinnati on Oct. 12- and Oct. 30 in Cleveland.

Ohio University Won't Shut Down Again, Sowle Says

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University will not shut down again because of student disorders, no matter how bad things get on campus, President Claude R. Sowle predicted Wednesday.

He told newsmen he believes the future of Ohio University and higher education generally would be threatened by "any closure of this or other schools on a widespread basis around the country."

"We may have to pay a price in terms of potential destruction of property and even, heaven forbid, loss of life to keep open," Sowle said.

"I've got the feeling that if I'm the last one left around here we will not close down." Student rioting forced Ohio University to shut down last spring for the remainder of the quarter.

The Westfall Band's first venture at band camp has all the earmarks of being successful. Everyone feels it was a tremendous experience. A number of parents and friends journeyed down to Caners Caves and were pleased with the concert presented by the band on guest night. Several individual acts were performed much to the delight of those attending. With the school being consolidated you must keep in mind that some of the folks there I did not know but the ones there I am acquainted with were: Bill and Norma Keller, Grace Ann Hulse, Ruth Long, Lawrence and Dorothy Carle, Ruth Schleich, Paul and Helen Whitesed, Gene and Pat Norris, Cecil and Judy Galloway, Maynard and Velma Marshall, George and Shirley Dean, Paul and Mary Alice Schein, Carl and Wanda Hooks, Dorothy Seaburn, Dave and Rita Long, Jim and Helen Fausnaugh, the McPhersons, the David Snyder of Darbyville, Nancy McDill, Bonnie Long, Kay Whitesed, Connie Hooks, John Valone, Sue Graffis, Mike Martin, Steve Wynn, Marc Easterday, yours truly and several small brothers and sisters.

In our car were four young teen-agers and what a joy they made the trip! It was funville all the way down and back. With kids like these growing up to take leadership we need not worry.

The band will be one of the main attractions at the annual Westfall Mustang Round-up, Aug. 28. Also to make the evening very enjoyable will be several talent acts by residents of the school district.

The executive school personnel and their families will be introduced and last but by no means least, will be the introduction of the hardworking, high-spirited, out-to-win Mustang football fellows, the cheerleaders, that up and at'em head coach Bill Vance, his assistant Tom Hamman and during all this the patrons will be seated on the brand spanking new bleachers built through the efforts of the Booster Club and donations of interested persons. Prior to all the above mentioned activity which starts at 7:30 p.m. a fish supper will be served in the school cafeteria from 5 until 7 p.m.

Family Reunion

The American Legion Hall is fast becoming the "in" place to have family gatherings and so it was for the big family reunion tossed by Harry and Emma Puffinbarger with the honor guests being her son Marion, his spouse Gretchen and their Bob from Winter Haven, Fla.

Guests flocked in from all points of the compass and from Circleville came Mr. and Mrs. Luther List, Ronald List and his Judy and Marilyn, Mrs. Saralyn Steinhauser, Douglas, Anna and William Jr.; Mrs. Kate Steinhauser from Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. David List, David Brent, Ann of Celina; Mr. and Mrs. Mark List and Dawn, Mr. and Mrs. Don Steinhauser, Kelly and Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Steinhauser, all of Grove City; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Banks and Trent of Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Steinhauser, Joey, Jamey, Scott and Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. Lester McMurray family all of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fulton, Gany Beougher and Sue Brathwaite from Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Steinhauser, Mr. and Mrs. Noah List from Williamsport.

While the Florida Steinhausers were here visiting, their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schuelter of Holgate came down to spend a few days with them. (They were smart — they parked up in the Puffinbarger yard).

On Thursday the Steinhausers embarked for Allentown, Pa., where a son was auditioning for the Fred Waring Show. He has been placed on standby and can be called at any time. From there they left for their home in Florida.

Vacationers

Mrs. John (Mary) Picklesimer thoroughly enjoyed her six day visit with daughter Gladys and her sidekick Sam Colter and their doll Angela at West Point, Ky. Mary's sister Lorna and her hubby Charles Pitt also were in the area to visit with their daughter and her new husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Reisinger. Mr. Colter and Mr. Reisinger are both with the army stationed at Fort Knox. The Colters spent some time here in Ohio and during the visit Sam celebrated his birthday with a family dinner at the Williamsport park. Those wishing him a happy day were Mrs. Jim Kneec and her Jim Jr., Tom, David and Carol Anne; Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Picklesimer and daughters Christy and Lauri; Misses Karen and Kathy (twins) Kneec of Circleville; Mr. Joe Fenneken, Mrs. John Picklesimer and Dodie. Another happy happening at the Picklesimer household is the engagement of Dodie to George Grooms Jr. of Washington C. H. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Joe and Nellie Wright, Judy and Gary returned Saturday from a camping type vacation down through Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina and all points of interest.

Gordon and Marvne Rihl and their long-time good friends and vacation together pals, Joe and Amelia Wardell did the East coast scene this year. Washington D. C. and several other historic rich areas was their bag.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Patterson and Mickey spent their vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piper of Rockland, Wis. Other relatives and friends were included on the agenda and a highlight of it all for Benton and Mickey was attending a big auto race on the newly built speedway at LaCrosse, Wis.

My sweet next door neighbor, Maria Hastings, was also in Wisconsin for a few days with her mama.

Mrs. Wilson (Virginia) Lehman and her two charmers, Dawn Denise and Larry have been visiting with papa and mama, Robert and Margaret Barnes and Tom, Paul and Bob and Virginia's sisters and their spouses, Mr. and Mrs. Dan (Sara) Davis of near Piqua; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan (Ruth) Wilson, localities; Mr. and Mrs. Walt (Ann) Packer and Sharon Lynn of Mt. Vernon. The Lehmans have just recently moved from their Albuquerque, N. M. home to near Chicago, Ill.

Lloyd and Margie Drummond hosted a reunion on the Daugherty, Fox and Bennett side of the family at their home near Clarksburg. David and Marabel and their gals, Connie, Sandee and Joy attended the event with David serving as driver for the hay ride that provided part of the afternoon's entertainment. Sandee has been practicing daily for her vocal solo in the Grange contest at the State Fair. She was the top winner in her category in her district which was made up of eleven counties. We all wish you well, Sandee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen and Linda of Oakland, Calif., have returned to their home after a wee bit of a harrowing experience. They had spent time here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Allen and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark, Dee, Mike and Mark. Flying home they expected a 42 minutes holdover at Chicago but much to their consternation it became a two and one half hours stacked time because all the runways but one were being cleaned and repaired. Stacked means you stay up in the air circling in a prescribed manner.

While they were here they visited another sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bower, an uncle who is slightly under the weather, Mr. William Strosnider of West Jefferson. They also went through Georgesville and the twin bridges (where Big and Little Darby Creeks flow) and enjoyed the many variety of ducks swimming there. At one point in their stay John was invited by Jack Clark to take a drive and ended up in Roanoke, Virginia. Meanwhile, Pat Clark took mama Allen, Margaret and Linda Allen and Dee Clark for a spin south to Portsmouth, up along the river, across over to Kentucky, back up to Manchester and Fort Hill Memorial which is well worth anyone going to see.

Good old George and Marilyn Lemaster and their Cathy, Joey, Paula and Stephanie were in town for a few days with Donnie Bill and Ruth Schleich and their gals. The Lemasters have moved from St. Albans, W. Va., to a small town just outside New Orleans, La.

Shirley Thompson, daughter of Marvin and Dolly and Vanessa Long, daughter of Eldon and Lois are both Classes are welcomed at the library for tours, card catalog instruction and an explanation of the Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature. Arrangements may be made for classes to spend a longer period at the library in supervised research. Such "Dig-Ins" are an excellent method of teaching students the use of reference tools, integrating the project with classroom assignments.

Story hours are offered to all city and county classrooms, as are book talks and presentations on special subjects such as Ohio history and the Civil War. Each month between forty and fifty films are offered to teachers and to individual borrowers for a twenty-four hour period. Jim Merritt Becomes First 20-Game Winner In NL

Celebration Follows 6-5 Reds Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Cincinnati's Jim Merritt was so confident he would become the National League's first 20-game winner of the season that he brought 10 bottles of champagne to the ball park Wednesday.

Merritt needed help from relief ace Wayne Granger but his confidence wasn't misplaced. He got the 20th win, a 6-5 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies, and the cork popped in the Reds' dressing room.

"I struggled and I would have liked to have finished the game, but I'm satisfied," said Merritt, whose record now is 20-10 for the Western Division - leading Reds. He also became the first Cincinnati left-hander to reach the 20-game milestone since Eppa Rixey posted a 21-11 record in 1925.

Merritt pitched six and 2-3 innings against the Phillies and was nicked for fourteen hits and all but five of the losers runs. He left in the seventh after the Phillies had scored three and had the tying run at first base.

Granger came in to retire Mike Compton, and pitched two more innings of scoreless ball for his 29th save of the season. The 26-year-old Merritt, who came to Cincinnati in 1968 in the trade which sent shortstop Leo Cardenas to Minnesota of the American League, has won 37 games in less than two seasons for the Reds.

While Merritt was happy with his 20th win he said that wasn't his goal for the season. "I SET pitching 250 innings as my goal, not winning 20 games," he said. "If you pitch 250 innings the victories will come."

He now has worked 219 innings with an ERA of 3.80.

Merritt has pitched only 11 complete games in 30 starts, so he made sure to give credit to Granger, Clay Carroll and the other relievers in the Cincinnati bullpen.

"With guys like these in the bullpen you can go out and throw as hard as you can for as long as you can and know that someone will pick you up if you need help. Like tonight (Wednesday) Wayne came in and slammed the door on the Phils."

The 6-foot-2 Merritt also pointed out that he has had a lot of help from the powerful Cincinnati hitting attack.

It was a pitching duel for five innings between Merritt and the Phillies Jim Bunning. Then the Reds' power asserted itself. Tony Perez socked his 39th homer, and after a pair of singles, Bernie Carbo slammed his 21st for three more runs. That made it free.

In the seventh, however, Merritt gave up a double to Tony Taylor and Don Money's 12th home run. After retiring the next two batters he was reached for a double by Larry Tittle and a run-scoring single by John Briggs. That brought on Granger who protected the one-run lead. Bunning 10-13 was the loser.

Bengals Get Quarterbacks

Carter, Davis Seek Cook's Job

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals will give two new quarterbacks a shot at helping fill the gap left by Greg Cook who is out for the season with a shoulder injury.

The National Football League team received Virgil Carter in a trade with the Buffalo Bills Wednesday for an undisclosed future draft selection, and then picked up Bob Davis on waivers from the New York Giants.

Carter of Brigham Young played three years with the Chicago Bears before going to Buffalo in a deal after the 1969 season. In 1968, he passed for 769 yards and started seven games. He completed 36 of 71 passes last year for 343 yards.

Davis had played as a back-up quarterback for the Houston Oilers for three years before joining the Giants after last season.

He completed 25 of 42 passes in 1969 for 233 yards and two touchdowns.

Bengals Coach Paul Brown said that New York wanted Cincinnati to let Davis slip by. They called me Tuesday night and asked us if we could overlook him because they wanted to taxi (squad) him. But we couldn't do it. We have a need that's obvious."

Cook led the team most of last year and topped the old American Football League in various passing categories.

Neither veteran Sam Wyche nor rookie Dave Lewis has been able to really get the club moving this year.

The Detroit Lions Wednesday traded rookie guard Bob Parker to the Philadelphia Eagles for veteran receiver Chuck Hughes. Hughes, a four-year veteran, was a fourth-round draft choice of the Eagles in 1967.

The Baltimore Colts acquired running back Eugene Moore from San Francisco on waivers and announced the retirement of reserve linebacker Butch Riley.

The Minnesota Vikings cut defensive back Seth Miller, wide receiver John Spinks, kicker Les Perry and tackle Andy Kolstad.

Washington asked waivers on veterans Carl Kammerer, a defensive end, and Tom Brown, a strong safety, and named Floyd Peters as player-coach on the defensive line.

The Atlanta Falcons later claimed Kammerer.

The Dallas Cowboys traded an undisclosed draft choice to the New Orleans Saints for veteran safety Bobby Thompson.

Boston placed two players on the injured waiver list—quarterback Aaron Marsh and Ed Tonner, a defensive tackle.

Receiver Willie Richardson returned to the Pittsburgh Steelers camp after three days' absence because of a contract hassle.

Coach Chuck Noll spoke with Richardson by phone in Baltimore and suggested he try to solve the problem in camp, a Steeler spokesman said.

Richardson, obtained by the Steelers from the Colts last week, had left the Latrobe, Pa. site over the weekend when he asked to have his contract renegotiated and the club refused.

Seven players with the flu missed their second straight day of practice at the San Francisco 49ers' camp. Coach Dick Nolan said he expected the sick players, including starters Dick Wiltcher and Charlie Krueger, to be ready for Saturday night's game against Denver.

Chicago announced that Jack Concannon would be the starting quarterback Saturday night against St. Louis. He supplants Bobby Douglass, who started games.

Bob Wynn Takes Ohio Open Title

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bob Wynn, his confidence and pockets pumped up with the 1970 Ohio Open golf title, checked in with a doctor today before heading for the pro tour again.

The 30-year-old Kettering resident, despite a lame back, shook a choke tag with final round of 69 and 70 Wednesday to grab his first Ohio Open title with a 72-hole score of 282.

He was four big shots ahead of George Bellino of Youngstown, Bob Lewis Jr. of Cleveland and Paul Thomas of Zanesville at 286, after scoring Walnut Hill Country Club's last nine holes for a 30.

Wynn thought of 1969 after shooting a 40 on the first nine of the last round. He had skied to an 80 on the final 18 last year to fall from a share of the lead to third.

"I wanted to prove to myself I was no choke artist," he said after cramming in an eagle and four birdies in the last eight holes.

The $800 first prize was Wynn's biggest payoff in 1970 although he has played in seven tour events. His previous best was $400 in the Maine Open.

Wynn, who once lost a U.S. Eighth Army Tournament title playoff to 1969 National Open champ Orville Moody, wore a long-sleeved sweater all three days as therapy for his back.

He planned another checkup today before heading for the Greater Hartford Open on the pro circuit next week.

Wynn, who has finished fifth, 26th, third and first in his four Ohio Opens credited putting for the triumph.

"I have been putting so good I think I can make any of them," he said. "I bet I lipped the cup 20 times during the tournament. Not tap-ins, 30 footers. I only had one three-putter, too."

Jim Logue of Columbus was fifth at 287, Bob Wallace of Akron sixth at par 288 and Bob Bourne of Oberlin, Mike McCullough of Coshocton and Billy Collins of Columbus tied for seventh at 289.

Browns Praise Bob Trumpy As 'Tremendous Tight End'

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Bengals tight end Bob Trumpy may have a good game Saturday night against the Cleveland Browns, but it won't be because the coaching staff didn't warn the players about his ability.

"He's fantastic," Browns' Coach Blanton Collier said. We think that phase of his football has been played up too much. He also does all the other things."

"I had heard that he was fast and could catch the ball. I didn't realize that he could block as well as the films indicate," said strongside safety Ernie Kellermann, who will have primary responsibility of stopping Trumpy.

"He does a great job with the hook block, getting that strong-side safety," Kellermann added. "He's a team man in the Cincinnati sweep and the Bengals sort of specialize in those."

Defensive coach Howard Brinker recalled seeing Trumpy as a freshman at Illinois and said, "He was the nearest thing to Mac Speedie I've ever seen. Smaller than Speedie at that time but with the same characteristics."

Speedie was one of the Browns' all-time great receivers.

Trumpy dropped out of Illinois after his sophomore year, went into the military service and completed his collegiate career at Utah.

Noonan Horse Wins At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Betty Lou Barrett, driven by Gerald Noonan, led from the wire Wednesday night to take the $1,600 featured eighth race at Scioto Downs.

The winner paid $4.40, $3.20 and $2.80. London Hal paid $5 and $4.40 for second and Mr. Chicken was worth $4.60 for show.

The nightly double of 5-4, Pepper Yates and Circo's Dream, paid $200.40.

A crowd of 4,590 wagered $203,453.

Redhot Jets Win Berth In Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The redhot, second place Columbus Jets clinched a berth in the International League post season baseball playoffs Wednesday with a 10-5 victory over the Toledo Mudhens—their 15th triumph in 17 starts.

Pablo Cruz had five hits and Rimp Lanier slugged four for the Jets' victory over Toledo, which has dropped 22 of its last 25 games.

Trumpy, who led last season's All-Pro balloting at the position, was drafted in the 12th round of the Bengals' first-ever draft. He is a six-foot, six-inch, 255-pounder.

The Browns regained the services Wednesday of veterans Jack Gregory and Reece Morrison, who had been on National Guard duty.

Yanks Capture Gold Medals In Italy

TURIN, Italy (AP)—"I thought the Americans could do better," said Mirjana Segrt of Yugoslavia, who echoed the majority opinion at the Sixth World University Games.

Miss Segrt was talking about the American girls—who took second in the two women's events on opening day Wednesday.

The American men didn't do badly, though, finishing one-two in the three men's finals of this international athletic showcase.

Miss Segrt, a 1968 Olympic performer, edged Marcia McCuen of Fullerton, Calif., Junior College in the 100-meter freestyle. Miss Segrt's time was 1:00.9 to Miss McCuen's 1:01.1.

Frank Heckl, of Hollywood, Calif., the U.S. 100-meter freestyle champion, won the gold medal in his specialty with a meet record-tying 53.2; John Ferris, Sacramento, Calif., won the 100-meter butterfly in 57.5 and Andy Strenk, Long Beach, Calif., took the 1,500-meter freestyle in 16:43.1.

Merritt, McNally Pace Major Loops

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Merritt must have known something. Why else would the slick Cincinnati southpaw stash away nearly a case of champagne in his locker . . . before the game?

"You don't win 20 games every day," said the 26-year-old hurler, referring to the 10 bottles of champagne, after he became the first left-hander in 45 years to win 20 for the Reds.

Merritt didn't last all the way, going 6 2-3 innings before Wayne Granger came on to save the memorable victory as the Reds edged Philadelphia 6-5 Wednesday night.

Merritt, who has lost 10 decisions, became the National League's first 20-game winner this season although he gave up 15 hits before Granger bailed him out. Dave McNally of Baltimore has 20 victories in the American League. The last Cincinnati lefty to win 20 was Eppa Rixey, who was 21-11 in 1925.

In other NL action, Atlanta dropped New York 9-7. San Diego edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Los Angeles beat Chicago 8-5, Houston topped Montreal 5-4 and San Francisco edged St. Louis 8-7.

Hank Aaron slammed his 35th home run of the year, triggering a three-run Atlanta ninth inning that overcame a 7-6 Mets lead. Aaron's two-run shot and No. 589 of his career capped an uphill battle by the Braves, who at one time trailed 7-1.

Orlando Cepeda, Clete Boyer and Bob Tillman added homers for Atlanta while Art Shamsky and Wayne Garrett had two-run blasts for New York.

Ed Stoez drilled a two-run homer in the seventh inning, sending the Padres to their second straight victory over the Pirates. Despite the loss Pittsburgh still remains three games in front of the Mets in the East. Freddie Patek fumbled Ivan Murrell's leadoff bounce before Spiezo connected for his 10th homer of the year off rookie right-hander Fred Cambria, spoiling his major league debut.

Pat Dobson, 10-13, allowed 12 hits but the Pirates scored only in the sixth on John Jeter's single, stolen base and Roberto Clemente's run-scoring single.

Jim Lefebvre clouted a three-run homer and Claude Osteen captured his 14th victory with relief help from Jim Brewer as the Dodgers stopped the Cubs, who trail the Pirates by 4 1/2 games. John Callison had a two-run homer for Chicago.

Dennis Menke drilled a three-run homer in the ninth inning, helping the Astros to their triumph. Cesar Cedeño added a homer in the ninth for Houston. Jim Gosger had put Montreal ahead 3-1 in the eighth with a three-run shot.

Jim Ray Hart greeted reliever Frank Linzy with a run-scoring single that gave the Giants their victory over the Cards. Lou Brock, who stole three bases, slugged a homer for the Cards while Willie Mays had a two-run shot and Willie McCovey ripped his 33rd of the year.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jim Lefebvre slammed a three-run homer and Jeff Torborg drove in two runs with a double as Los Angeles stopped the Chicago Cubs 8-5 Wednesday night.

Winner Claude Osteen, 14-11, needed eighth inning relief from Jim Brewer, who posted his 20th save.

Five Shooters Tie At 300

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Competition for the Clay Target Championship of America was halted at the 71st annual Grand American Trapshooting Tournament Wednesday night with five shooters tied with 300 straight birds.

A shootout that began after 12 contestants shattered all 200 targets was carried over to today's program, which featured the Preliminary Handicap from 18-27 yards.

Still contending for the clay target title were Dan Orlich, Reno, Nev.; Charles Shecker, Walnutport, Pa.; Hiram Bradley, Houston, Tex.; Virgil Pittman, Wentzville, Mo., and Jim Poindexter, Bradbury, Calif.

The women's title was won by Loral Delaney of Anoka, Minn., who broke 25 straight in a shoot-off after hitting 196 in the regular race. Kathleen Sedulky of Westland, Mich., was runnerup.

Jim Merritt Becomes First 20-Game Winner In NL

Celebration Follows 6-5 Reds Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Cincinnati's Jim Merritt was so confident he would become the National League's first 20-game winner of the season that he brought 10 bottles of champagne to the ball park Wednesday.

Merritt needed help from relief ace Wayne Granger but his confidence wasn't misplaced. He got the 20th win, a 6-5 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies, and the corks popped in the Reds' dressing room.

"I struggled and I would have liked to have finished the game, but I'm satisfied," said Merritt, whose record now is 20-10 for the Western Division - leading Reds. He also became the first Cincinnati left-hander to reach the 20-game milestone since Eppa Rixey posted a 21-11 record in 1925.

Merritt pitched six and 2-3 innings against the Phillies and was nipped for fourteen hits and all but five of the losers runs. He left in the seventh after the Phillies had scored three and had the tying run at first base.

Granger came in to retire Mike Compton, and pitched two more innings of scoreless ball for his 29th save of the season.

The 26-year-old Merritt, who came to Cincinnati in 1968 in the trade which sent shortstop Leo Cardenas to Minnesota of the American League, has won 37 games in less than two seasons for the Reds.

While Merritt was happy with his 20th win he said that wasn't his goal for the season.

"I SET pitching 250 innings as my goal, not winning 20 games," he said. "If you pitch 250 innings the victories will come."

He now has worked 219 innings with an ERA of 3.80.

Merritt has pitched only 11 complete games in 30 starts, so he made sure to give credit to Granger, Clay Carroll and the other relievers in the Cincinnati bullpen.

"With guys like these in the bullpen you can go out and throw as hard as you can for as long as you can and know that someone will pick you up if you need help. Like tonight (Wednesday) Wayne came in and slammed the door on the Phils."

The 6-foot-2 Merritt also pointed out that he has had a lot of help from the powerful Cincinnati hitting attack.

It was a pitching duel for five innings between Merritt and the Phillies Jim Bunning. Then the Reds' power asserted itself. Tony Perez socked his 39th homer, and after a pair of singles, Bernie Carbo slammed his 21st for three more runs. That made it three.

In the seventh, however, Merritt gave up a double to Tony Taylor and Don Money's 12th home run. After retiring the next two batters he was reached for a double by Larry Hise and a run-scoring single by John Briggs. That brought on Granger who protected the one-run lead. Bunning 10-13 was the loser.

Elsewhere, a bomb scare in Cleveland failed to rattle Steve Hargan, who pitched the Indians to a 7-2 victory over Milwaukee; Minnesota blanked Boston 7-0 on rookie Bert Blyleven's four-hitter; the New York Yankees topped Kansas City 3-0 behind Stan Bahnsen; California beat Detroit 6-3 and the Chicago White Sox downed Washington 3-1.

Buford's 14th homer of the season, a third-inning shot over the right center field fence, gave Jim Palmer all the impetus he needed to gain his 18th victory. Buford also singled off reliever Bob Locker in the seventh and boosted his season batting average to .275. His two-year mark against Hunter is .619.

Palmer, who has lost seven, scattered six hits, including a homer by Felipe Alou in the fourth, as the Orioles breezed to their ninth win in 10 games.

Hunter, 15-12, has lost four in a row while the A's have dropped five straight and nine of their last 10 starts.

Home runs by Ted Uhlaender and rookie Roy Foster broke up a close game at Cleveland and gave Hargan his sixth straight victory since being recalled from the minors early last month.

A telephone report that a bomb would explode in Cleveland Stadium at 8 p.m., EDT, failed to halt the game and the deadline passed without incident. Police, however, made a search of the stands before the start of the game.

A similar bomb threat forced evacuation of Metropolitan Stadium in Minnesota during Tuesday night's game between the Twins and Boston.

Blyleven hurled the Twins out of a three-game tailspin by taming the Red Sox for his first major league shutout. Cesar Tovar drove in three runs with a single and double off Ray Culp, a long-time Minnesota nemesis, as the Twins protected their 3½-game West Division lead over second-place California.

Bahnsen stopped Kansas City on five hits and the Yankees jumped on Wally Bunker for three first inning runs to hand the winless right-hander his eighth loss.

California's Clyde Wright picked up his 18th victory with relief help from Ken Tatum as the Angels beat Denny McLain on homers by Roger Repoz and Ken McMullen.

Syd O'Brien and Carlos May hit home runs for the White Sox and winning pitcher Jerry Janeski shut out the Senators until Aurelio Rodriguez homered in the seventh.

Merritt, McNally Pace Major Loops

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Merritt must have known something. Why else would the slick Cincinnati southpaw stash away nearly a case of champagne in his locker . . . before the game?

"You don't win 20 games every day," said the 26-year-old hurler, referring to the 10 bottles of champagne, after he became the first lefthander in 45 years to win 20 for the Reds.

Merritt didn't last all the way, going 6 2-3 innings before Wayne Granger came on to save the memorable victory as the Reds edged Philadelphia 6-5 Wednesday night.

Merritt, who has lost 10 decisions, became the National League's first 20-game winner this season although he gave up 15 hits before Granger bailed him out. Dave McNally of Baltimore has 20 victories in the American League. The last Cincinnati lefty to win 20 was Eppa Rixey, who was 21-11 in 1925.

In other NL action, Atlanta dropped New York 9-7, San Diego edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Los Angeles beat Chicago 8-5, Houston topped Montreal 5-4 and San Francisco edged St. Louis 8-7.

Hank Aaron slammed his 35th homer of the year, triggering a three-run Atlanta ninth inning that overcame a 7-6 Mets lead. Aaron's two-run shot and No. 589 of his career capped an uphill battle by the Braves, who at one time trailed 7-1.

Orlando Cepeda, Clete Boyer and Bob Tillman added homers for Atlanta while Art Shamsky and Wayne Garrett had two-run blasts for New York.

Ed Stoez drilled a two-run homer in the seventh inning, sending the Padres to their second straight victory over the Pirates. Despite the loss Pittsburgh still remains three games in front of the Mets in the East. Freddie Patek fumbled Ivan Murrell's leadoff bounce before Spiezo connected for his 10th homer of the year off rookie right-hander Fred Cambria, spoiling his major league debut.

Pat Dobson, 10-13, allowed 12 hits but the Pirates scored only in the sixth on John Jeter's single, stolen base and Roberto Clemente's run-scoring single.

Jim Lefebvre clouted a three-run homer and Claude Osteen captured his 14th victory with relief help from Jim Brewer as the Dodgers stopped the Cubs, who trail the Pirates by 4½ games. John Callison had a two-run homer for Chicago.

Dennis Menke drilled a three-run homer in the ninth inning, helping the Astros to their triumph. Cesar Cedeño added a homer in the ninth for Houston. Jim Gosger had put Montreal ahead 3-1 in the eighth with a three-run shot.

Jim Ray Hart greeted reliever Frank Linzy with a run-scoring single that gave the Giants their victory over the Cards. Lou Brock, who stole three bases, slugged a homer for the Cards while Willie Mays had a two-run shot and Willie McCovey ripped his 33rd of the year.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jim Lefebvre slammed a three-run homer and Jeff Torborg drove in two runs with a double as Los Angeles stopped the Chicago Cubs 8-5 Wednesday night. Lefebvre's homer, his third of the year, came in the second inning off loser Ken Holtzman, 14-10.

Five Shooters Tie At 300

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Competition for the Clay Target Championship of America was halted at the 71st annual Grand American Trapshooting Tournament Wednesday night with five shooters tied with 300 straight birds.

A shootoff that began after 12 contestants shattered all 200 targets was carried over to today's program, which featured the Preliminary Handicap from 18-27 yards.

Still contending for the clay target title were Dan Orlich, Reno, Nev.; Charles Shecker, Walnutport, Pa.; Hiram Bradley, Houston, Tex.; Virgil Pittman, Wentzville, Mo., and Jim Poindexter, Bradbury, Calif.

Browns Praise Bob Trumphy As 'Tremendous Tight End'

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Bengals tight end Bob Trumphy may have a good game Saturday night against the Cleveland Browns, but it won't be because the coaching staff didn't warn the players about his ability.

"He's fantastic," Browns' Coach Blanton Collier said. We think that phase of his football has been played up too much. He also does all the other things."

"I had heard that he was fast and could catch the ball. I didn't realize that he could block as well as the films indicate," said strongside safety Ernie Kellermann, who will have primary responsibility of stopping Trumphy.

"He does a great job with the hook block, getting that strong-side safety," Kellermann added. "He's a team man in the Cincinnati sweep and the Bengals sort of specialize

Woody Eyes Michigan; Sees Only One Problem

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michigan, the team that wrecked Ohio State's bid for a second straight national college football crown last fall, is still a word coach Woody Hayes keeps out of his vocabulary.

The Wolverines spilled the Buckeyes 24-12 in the last game in 1969, costing Ohio State an undisputed Big Ten Conference title and a national title.

"That team that decided us in the final game deserves a high rating again," Hayes said of Michigan which earned a

Although Hayes would contend the eight games before Michigan in 1970 are just as important, the 20-year Ohio State boss will concentrate on his hitler rival.

What can he call on as the Buckeyes bid for their fourth national and seventh league crown under Hayes?

He can call on 18 two-year lettermen who played on the 1968 Big Ten, national and Rose Bowl champion team, one of the country's top quarterbacks, two All-Americans and eight to 10 prize sophomores.

"The sophomores should make us a little stronger than last year," Hayes said. "Eight or 10 of them could be starting before the season is over."

Only three, 240-pound offensive guard John Hicks and 240-pound George Hasenohr and 232-pound Shad Williams, will crack the veteran lineup early.

Hicks is the biggest guard Hayes has had since All-American Jim Parker in 1956, an ironic twist to the 1970 Buckeye picture. It's offensive guard that could be Ohio State's one real weakness.

"We have lost eight guards one way or another since last season," Hayes said.

Excepting All-American full-back Jim Otis, most of the firepower returns from the 8-1 team last fall.

Quarterback Rex Kern launches his third season of driving opposing defenses crazy with his option plays. He's played nearly all of his three seasons with assorted injuries and has undergone two operations during that span.

The defense again will be a relentless, excellent-pursuing one centered around middle guard Jim Stillwagon and cornerback Jack Tatum.

Hayes, once famed for his three - yards - and-a-cloud - cf-dust offense, has gone more to the passing game in recent seasons. With the personnel available, he is expected to continue that tendency this fall.

"Nobody has better receivers than we do," Hayes said of ends Bruce Jankowski and Jan White and wingback Larry Zelina.

Jankowski and White both travel the 100-yard dash in under 10 seconds and all three "can catch the ball in a crowd," according to Hayes.

The Buckeyes' biggest problem? Complacency.

"It's up to us coaches to build a fire under the seniors," one assistant coach said.

Cox Tourney Set Sept. 6

The sixth annual Jaycee Cox Memorial Tournament will be held at Upper Lansdowne Golf Links Sept. 6.

Co-chairmen of this year's 18-hole amateur event are Joe List and Jake Bailey, representing the Circleville area Jaycees. Entry is open to anyone who is able to hold a golf club.

A round of golf, food and refreshments and a chance to win prizes and trophies are scheduled for entrants. Entries should be returned to Circleville Jaycees, Route 1, Ashville, in care of Don Collins in order to be sure of a preferred tee time.

Rain date for the tourney is Sept. 13. Last year's winner was Ron Leatherwood who fired a one over par 73.

The tourney is in memory of Omar Wayne Cox who died during World War II. His brothers and sisters promote the game through tournament.

Past winners include two of his brothers, Garner Cox and Elwood Cox, Bill Rosemond of Columbus and Ron Leatherwood.

1. Card of Thanks

I wish to express my gratitude for all the help I received during my recent illness. To Dr. Robert McCoy, his nurses, Berger Hospital staff, Dr. James Williams, his nurses, Grant Hospital staff, the many lovely cards and gifts. To all that visited me, the prayers that were offered in my behalf, especially, my Pastor, Rev. John DeMint, Rev. R. L. Heinbach and Charles Wells. I thank my blessed Savior for His divine anointing.
Sincerely Mrs. McClellan Clark.

See Fewer Cars As Only Answer To Big City Jams

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Traffic Engineer James V. Musick believes now is the time for Columbus and other Ohio cities to take steps to make sure that expressway, parking and transit problems do not get out of hand.

"We know that in the future if we go along the way we're going now, we'll be facing the same kind of problems as New York or Washington," Musick says. "But we can plan to avoid these problems."

The assumption on which proposals for better traffic flow and transit service in the state capital rest is that if congestion is to be curtailed, people must be discouraged from bringing cars downtown.

"The time is coming when people will have to realize the individual automobile is creating great problems in metropolitan areas," according to Steve Galanis of the Columbus Planning Department.

Musick agrees. "In the future," he says, "it will just be impossible to store and handle all the cars wanting to drive into the core city downtown."

But traffic planners in other cities are less willing to say that the answer to congestion is fewer cars downtown. Cleveland Traffic Commissioner Clyde Scott says, "I think the city can handle the additional cars."

In Cincinnati, Traffic Engineer Tom Young does not feel it will be necessary in the foreseeable future to ban cars from downtown streets.

In Columbus, however, the process of easing the automobile out of the downtown area has already begun. Traffic engineers are now completing part one of a three-phase program designed to eliminate all unnecessary traffic from the center of the city.

The plan calls for one-way streets, one in each direction, on all sides of the center of downtown to make it easier for traffic not destined for the city's hub to go around the area.

To make the center easy for pedestrians to walk through, vehicles will not be allowed to make turns at major intersections and two streets will eventually be blocked and developed as shopping malls.

The traffic engineering division will oppose any attempt to construct new parking facilities inside the eight-block area. Parking rates will be adjusted to make it much cheaper for those who park all day to leave their cars away from the center of things.

The plan is that as people are encouraged to park further and further away from downtown jobs and shopping, some kind of circulating public transit system will be developed to connect points downtown with each other and with fringe parking areas.

In the long run, Columbus planners hope to develop mass transit service between city and suburbs so more people who now drive cars will use it to carry them to and from downtown.

Cleveland, which once considered a subway system, has no plans for radical changes in mass transit service linking the city with its suburbs. Planners in Cincinnati are thinking in long-range terms of a monorail system, but no plans yet exist.

Columbus proposals for speedier, more convenient transit service are also the speculative stage. They include use of existing railroad rights-of-way, either by equipping buses to ride the rails or constructing bus lanes over the tracks, special express lanes for buses during rush hours and eventually mass surface or overhead rail transit.

This type of service will be expensive, and the earliest estimate for its implementation any where is ten years away. In the meantime, even if cars are restricted in downtown areas, Ohio metropolitan complexes will remain dependent on expressways.

Interstate highway systems around most Ohio cities are incomplete, and the new sections are expected to take part of the load from existing highways as they open.

But further measures may be necessary. Columbus planner Bill Habig says electronic monitoring systems are in the works for some commuter routes. A closed-circuit television monitor will shut down access ramps when the freeways have reached capacity.

Habig says developing routes to which traffic can be diverted when the expressways are full will be much cheaper than redesigning and rebuilding and entire freeway system.

The electronic monitor will be feasible very shortly, but technological advances still on the drawing boards may eventually make it possible to increase future capacity of freeways by as much as 800 per cent.

Ohio State University's Transportation Engineering Center is researching an automated expressway which would permit drivers to guide their cars onto the route and turn the driving over to an electronic system until it puts them off at pre-selected exits.

Dr. Robert E. Fenton says the automated expressway will be capable of moving cars closer to one another at high speeds than is safe when humans are behind the wheel.

Dr. Fenton says the reaction time of the electronic driver will be faster, and accidents will be reduced.

CLERGYMEN VIE FOR SENATE SEATS—Three members of the clergy will be on the ballot this fall contesting for U.S. senate seats: Rev. John J. McLaughlin (left), a Roman Catholic priest, Rhode Island Republican; Rev. Joseph D. Duffey (center), a minister of the United Church of Christ and a Vietnam war critic, Connecticut Democrat; and Rev. John C. Danforth (right), an Episcopalian minister and state attorney general, Missouri Republican.

Dr. Fenton says the reaction time of the electronic driver will be faster, and accidents will be reduced.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Traffic Engineer James V. Musick believes now is the time for Columbus and other Ohio cities to take steps to make sure that expressway, parking and transit problems do not get out of hand.

"We know that in the future if we go along the way we're going now, we'll be facing the same kind of problems as New York or Washington," Musick says. "But we can plan to avoid these problems."

The assumption on which proposals for better traffic flow and transit service in the state capital rest is that if congestion is to be curtailed, people must be discouraged from bringing cars downtown.

"The time is coming when people will have to realize the individual automobile is creating great problems in metropolitan areas," according to Steve Galanis of the Columbus Planning Department.

But traffic planners in other cities are less willing to say that the answer to congestion is fewer cars downtown. Cleveland Traffic Commissioner Clyde Scott says, "I think the city can handle the additional cars."

In Cincinnati, Traffic Engineer Tom Young does not feel it will be necessary in the foreseeable future to ban cars from downtown streets.

In Columbus, however, the process of easing the automobile out of the downtown area has already begun. Traffic engineers are now completing part one of a three-phase program designed to eliminate all unnecessary traffic from the center of the city.

The plan calls for one-way streets, one in each direction, on all sides of the center of downtown to make it easier for traffic not destined for the city's hub to go around the area.

To make the center easy for pedestrians to walk through, vehicles will not be allowed to make turns at major intersections and two streets will eventually be blocked and developed as shopping malls.

The traffic engineering division will oppose any attempt to construct new parking facilities inside the eight-block area. Parking rates will be adjusted to make it much cheaper for those who park all day to leave their cars away from the center of things.

The plan is that as people are encouraged to park further and further away from downtown jobs and shopping, some kind of circulating public transit system will be developed to connect points downtown with each other and with fringe parking areas.

In the long run, Columbus planners hope to develop mass transit service between city and suburbs so more people who now drive cars will use it to carry them to and from downtown.

Cleveland, which once considered a subway system, has no plans for radical changes in mass transit service linking the city with its suburbs. Planners in Cincinnati are thinking in long-range terms of a monorail system, but no plans yet exist.

Columbus proposals for speedier, more convenient transit service are also in the speculative stage. They include use of existing railroad rights-of-way, either by equipping buses to ride the rails or constructing bus lanes over the tracks, special express lanes for buses during rush hours and eventually mass surface or overhead rail transit.

This type of service will be expensive, and the earliest estimate for its implementation anywhere is ten years away. In the meantime, even if cars are restricted in downtown areas, Ohio metropolitan complexes will remain dependent on expressways.

Interstate highway systems around most Ohio cities are incomplete, and the new sections are expected to take part of the load from existing highways as they open.

Ohio State University's Transportation Engineering Center is researching an automated expressway which would permit drivers to guide their cars onto the route and turn the driving over to an electronic system until it puts them off at pre-selected exits. Dr. Robert E. Fenton says the automated expressway will be capable of moving cars closer to one another at high speeds than is safe when humans are behind the wheel.

Dr. Fenton says the reaction time of the electronic driver will be faster, and accidents will be reduced.
